PUT TEETH IN ANTI-GARBAGE DUMPING RULE

Health Board Acts To Keep Highways Clear of Rubbish and Refuse.

Joining with the sheriff's and the county engineer's offices in an effort to check garbage and rubbish dumping along Marion county highways, the Marion county district board of health announced today it has approved regulations which will "put teeth into garbage disposal regulations and provide heavy fines for offenders.

The legislation was passed to assist law enforcement officers in checking a wave of garbage and rubbish dumping along county highways. On numerous occasions recently the sheriff has been called to investigate rubbish dumping in the county area and employes of the county engineer's office have had to haul rubbish and garbage away from county roads.

Dumpers Work at Night

Sheriff Roy Retterer has pointed out it is difficult to catch offenders, because much of the rubbish dumping is done at night and is thrown from automobiles as they pass along the roads.

County Engineer Walter W. Johnson said today his office has crews out hauling away rubbish and during the last several days 10 or 12 loads have been hauled away. He added his office had received no serious complaints this week on rubbish dumping but that it still was going on on a small scale.

Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, in explaining the new regulations, said that anyone caught hauling garbage without a license, "even if only a basketfull" could be given a maximum fine of $100 for the first offense. The regulations, provided for in a resolution passed by the board of health at a recent meeting, are similar to those adopted by health authorities in Franklin county, Dr. Sifritt explained.

Provisions of Regulations

The resolution provides that whoever hauls garbage in Marion county, except within the corporation limits of the city, shall have a permit from the board of health. Before a permit is issued the following regulations must be met: (1) an applicant must have waterproof containers with fly-proof covers approved by the board of health; (2) place of disposal must be approved by the board; (3) the permit must be displayed on the dashboard or windshield of the carrier; (4) garbage, which shall include

SCHOOL GROUPS HOLD PRE-EASTER SERVICES

Annual Series Opened at Central Christian Church.

The first in a series of five pre-Easter services, focused upon the theme "The Cross Inevitable," sponsored by Girl Reserves and Hi-Y of Harding High school, was held Friday morning at Central Christian church. A short sermon, "The Meaning of the Cross" was given by Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor of the Calvary Evangelical church.

Rev. Faulkner reviewed the suffering of Christ upon the cross and emphasized that "He is our only connection between God and everlasting life."

An organ prelude was played by Mrs. Virgil Curl, and Dick Smith, president of the Agenda Hi-Y club, led in opening prayer and call to worship. A morning collect was read by Alan Cleveland and Pat Dearing read Scripture from II Corinthians, 6:10-18. Following the sermon by Rev. Faulkner, Martha Ann Midlam read a short summary on "The Meaning of the Cross." Closing prayer was by Duane Eastman.

These services have been sponsored by the Girl Reserve and Hi-Y clubs of Harding High school for 15 consecutive years. The committee for the day consisted of Pat Dearing, Dick Smith and Duane Eastman. Approximately 250 students and teachers were present.

Quonset House Requests Rise

Call Special Council Meeting To Consider Aid for Veterans' Families.

With veterans' favorable response to a city-Chamber of Commerce proposal to supply Quonset-type houses instead of trailers in a plan to reopen Lincoln park camp for veterans' housing, Mayor Harry L. Dowler said today he would call a special meeting of council Monday night to consider legislation on the matter.

Meanwhile, requests for the houses continued to come in. Mrs. Eliza Young, in charge of the veterans' information center in the Star building reported 93 applications have been received and others still are coming in. The total last night climbed to 83 and 10 more had been received at noon today. Those veterans who cannot see her personally are making applications by telephone.

The mayor and other city officials met with a Chamber of Commerce committee late yesterday after the flood of requests for the houses began. In view of the large number of requests received, and the desperate need of some of the families for housing assistance, the committee decided a special council meeting should be called.

Mayor Dowler said about 35 of the 93 families are badly in need of assistance and that he would ask the council to discuss legislation which might help them. The mayor said City Solicitor Edwin B. Spohn was checking regulations today to determine what sort of legislation might be passed.

Offer of the Quonset buildings was made after city and Chamber of Commerce officials notified the Cleveland federal public housing administration that sufficient demand for the trailers had not developed to justify reopening the camp.

GALION SCHOOL FIGHT FLARES

Member Quits as Board Fails To Rehire Coach; President Makes Statement.

Special to The Star

GALION, April 13 — A school controversy flared in Galion Friday with the resignation of Jack Gay, member of the board of education, together with publication of a letter in the local newspaper to the citizens of Galion by Mr. Gay, stating his reason.

Gay's resignation also brought the first public news that Robert R. Sheffer, head coach in football, basketball and baseball and director of physical education, has not been re-appointed to this position.

It was learned, too, that Mr. Sheffer was granted a teaching position next year, instead of the coaching job. The coach formerly taught industrial arts at the Junior High.

In his letter to the public, Mr. Gay states that the issue which warrants his resignation is "one of long standing, and was openly discussed during the previous election as to the status of our football coach, Mr. Robert Sheffer. Realizing that this would definitely become a political issue, it was discussed by the board members prior to the reorganization of the board following the election. Mr. M. A. Povenmire, superintendent of schools, stated that all work assigned to Mr. Sheffer was carried out to his satisfaction."

Left Meeting Early

Mr. Gay's letter further states that on March 7 the board met and that he had to leave before it officially closed. On March 11, he said he received a call from the president of the board advising that Mr. Sheffer was not re-

Iberia Veteran, Foiled by Army, To Fly to Wales To Get Bride

Special to The Star

GALION, April 13—At Iberia, six miles southwest of here, a former GI is counting the days until April 23. That is the date he will be flying back to England and Wales to marry the girl he met there while he was in service.

Charles E. Thomas, was wounded in action on Aug. 7, 1944, while with the 6th Armored Division of General Patton's Third Army, in France. He was sent back to England, and while recuperating was desk sergeant in the military police at Swansea, Wales. He met Miss Gwenda Hopkins, 21, a resident of that town when she came to his desk seeking information.

At their first meeting, Sergeant Thomas knew Gwenda was the girl for him. He met her several times later, and it wasn't long till there was an engagement.

Sgt. Thomas visited at Gwenda's home, meeting her family. Besides winning her, he had to make a good impression upon her parents to receive their consent.

Brother Gives Okay

Sgt. Thomas' brother, Harold, also serving in England, and now a resident of Marion since his discharge, met the Hopkins family and approves highly of his brother's future wife.

After the betrothal, plans went forward for the marriage, and then it took some time later to have the proper papers filled out. About the time that plans were completed for a wedding in Swansea, Sgt. Thomas' outfit received its orders to be shipped back to the United States. Uncle Sam's interference caused the marriage plans to be called off, and Sgt. Thomas was returned to the

Tentative Vote in House Bans Teen-age Draft

Action Comes After Rep. May Declares It's Wrong To Induct "Children."

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — The house voted tentatively today to raise the minimum draft age from 18 to 20 years.

The proposed ban on teen-age inductions was approved by a teller vote of 195 to 96.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Pleading for a ban on inductions of 18 and 19-year-old youths, Rep. May (D-Ky) told the house today "It's wrong to put children in the army."

Departing from the stand of the military committee, of which he is chairman, May introduced an amendment to draft extension legislation to raise the minimum induction age from 18 to 20.

In a speech supporting the proposal, he told the house he believed it also would be "a wise move" to stop all inductions while a voluntary enlistment program is in operation.

An amendment to extend the draft law from May 15 of this year to Feb. 15, 1947, but to prohibit actual inductions between May 15 and October 15 of this year is pending.

Committee Differs

May's committee has urged a straight nine-months extension with no change in existing age limits and no draft "holiday."

In support of his contention that teen-agers are not needed, May said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower recently told the senate military committee that teen-age soldiers are "not so suitable" for military service.

Opposing May's amendment, Rep. Walter G. Andrews of New York, top Republican on the military committee, told the house there were not enough acceptable men in the pool over 19 to furnish the manpower needs of the armed services between now and July 1, 1947.

To extend the draft law but to prohibit induction of teen'-agers, Andrews claimed, would be meaningless and would not furnish sufficient men.

Another Republican on the committee, Rep. Harness of Indiana, asserted, however that the people "want to stop taking 18-year-old boys into the peacetime army." Harness said he believed the Army and the Navy could get all the men they need without enlistments.

House leaders appeared ready to go along on the "draft holiday" proposal but were set to fight May's amendment to the last ditch.

Gain Wide Support

Apparently there wasn't much house leaders could do about either the "holiday" proposal or the 'teen-age ban for both rolled up heavy support yesterday during debate on the draft extension measure.

These two red-hot issues are scheduled to be dispoed of one way or the other by nightfall, along with a motion to kill outright the entire extended legislation. And to allow plenty of time for a decision, Speaker Rayburn called the house into early session again today for the second successive day in an effort to send the bill to the senate for a vote next week.

Draft "holiday" support has been nowhere near as conspicuous in the senate, whose military committee has recommended a straightaway extension of selective service, without any such innovation. The present odds seemed to be that the two chambers would pass radically different measures, leaving the ultimate form of the draft extender to be worked out in senate-house conference.

Lone Patrolman Nabs 3 Columbus Gunmen

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—Five well-dressed, unmasked men interrupted the shopping rounds of about 20 super-market patrons yesterday with revolvers as they "politely" relieved the manager of the store's cash.

A state highway patrolman picked up three of the group two hours later without using his gun and found about $600 in their wallets.

The men, stationing themselves in points of vantage throughout the store, held up business for about 15 minutes.

MEAT FAMINE GROWS IN U. S.; OPA ASSAILED

Senator Sees End of Legal Supply in 30 Days Unless Controls Go.

By The Associated Press

Housewives were forced to figure out meatless menus in many sections of the nation today.

Butcher shop proprietors in Chicago, the world's packinghouse center, helplessly attempted to cope with the customers' clamor for meat by offering a few chickens, sausage or the usually least popular cuts.

The growing shortage appeared to be worse in numerous cities than at any time during wartime rationing.

Senator Is Pessimistic

Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), chairman of the senate agriculture committee, predicted in Chicago yesterday that unless price controls were lifted there wouldn't be any legitimate meat on the market within 30 days. He said OPA had "practically given up" on the "black market situation."

Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of Wilson and Co., said cattle purchases by major packers in Chicago were the lowest this week that he could recall in 50 years. Fifteen packers, including Armour, Swift and Wilson, he said, altogether bought only 9,000 head, or about 25 per cent, of the slaughter cattle sold the first four days this week.

The other 75 per cent, Wilson said, went to buyers for plants outside Chicago "at prices that were substantially higher than Chicago packers could pay for the cattle and keep costs at or below ceilings."

"Only Conclusion"

The only conclusion, he continued was that "a very large percentage" of this cattle was moving through illegitimate slaughter channels.

"There is no answer to the situation short of complete removal of price controls on livestock and meat," Wilson said.

The shortage brought a promise from the agriculture department of action "within a few days" to enable the big packers to obtain more livestock. Department officials wouldn't indicate what the action might be but there was speculation that a slaughter quota program administered by the OPA during the war might be reinstated.

George Dressler of Chicago, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers, contended that housewives would have plenty of meat at prices only about five cents a pound over present ceilings within 30 days if the ceilings were removed.

On the other hand, Philip Weightman, vice president of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers union, asserted that "return to meat rationing and quota control for slaughtering cattle have proven to be the best way of maintaining a normal flow of meat to the consumer."

The house agriculture committee proposed to abolish meat subsidies of $700,000,000 and raise retail ceilings about six cents a pound in compensation.

OPA Asks Ohioan To Reveal Lowdown on Black Markets

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—An Office of Price Administration official called upon Harry Nation, executive secretary of the Columbus Retail Grocers association, to report to the OPA any information he might have about black market dealings in meat.

Nation had asserted that "seventy-five per cent of the meat in this area is handled on a black market basis."

Milton J. Rappaport, chief district enforcement agent for the OPA, said that Nation's statement "would seem to indicate that he has some knowledge of black market operations and illegal transactions."

Rappaport added that "if Mr. Nation has any information of such violations, it is his duty as a citizen to report the same to our office if he sincerely desires to protect the merchants he claims to represent."

Clothing Shortage To Ease Up in Three Months, Says Bowles

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles expressed confidence today the shortage of inexpensive clothing will ease considerably in three months.

In a radio address he appealed to the public to be patient "a little while longer."

Stating that production of cloth and apparel is on the uptrend, Bowles added:

"Ordinarily it takes about 14 weeks for the new fabrics to show up as finished garments in your stores. This whole troublesome situation, I am confident, should be a lot better by the middle of July."

Bowles, in a review of the clothing problem, said that to date the record of getting low and moderately-priced garments on the market "is no credit either to the industry or the government."

Demand Is Staggering

Discussing the shirt shortage, Bowles said a principal reason for it is "the absolutely staggering demand." The government estimates, he reported, that Americans would snap up more than 320,000,000 shirts this year.

"But in the last prewar year, 1939, far less than half that many shirts were bought and sold," Bowles said. "Just think what the millions of returning GI's would do to the kind of stocks you used to find in your stores.

"With each man wanting maybe three or four or a half dozen, the shirt industry would be kept busy for months, just supplying veterans alone."

Lists Basic Reasons

Bowles listed these "basic reasons" for the shortage of inexpensive cotton clothing:

1. A shortage of workers in the textile mills during the last two years.

2. Failure of the government to take "more vigorous, realistic action" in the early days of the clothing scarcity. Bowles reiterated that clothing should have been rationed.

3. Removal shortly after the war on controls which required mills to make essential fabrics needed for low-cost clothing. These were restored a few days ago.

Sugar Refinery Strike at Hand

8,000 AFL and CIO Workers in Seven Plants To Quit at Midnight.

A strike was set for midnight tonight by 8,000 AFL and CIO employes in seven east coast sugar refineries which process about two-thirds of the nation's cane sugar.

Last minute attempts were being made by federal labor conciliators to avert the walkout in plants of three major sugar refiners in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore. Four CIO and three AFL locals are involved in a wage dispute with the American, National and Revere refining companies.

Major development along the labor front during the last 24 hours was the threat of a strike by 1,300 Transcontinental and Western Air Co. pilots during the week of April 21. An Air Line Pilots association spokesman said wage demands would increase the present maximum annual pay from $13,200 to $16,000.

The 90,000 residents of Lansing, Mich., were without public transportation because of a strike by members of the AFL Railway and Motor Coach Operators union.

Continuing labor disputes throughout the country kept idle about 780,000 workers.

LEADER OFFERS TO BARE SPAIN TO INSPECTION

Rated as Logical Answer to Polish Charges of Harboring Scientists.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13 — The United Nations security council guardedly studied today in invitation from the Spanish cabinet asking the council to determine by inspection whether refugee German scientists are engaged in atomic research in Spain.

Council reaction was lacking, but one delegation which declined to be identified had indicated previously that an invitation from Generalissimo Francisco Franko asking for such an investigation would seem a logical answer for the Spanish leader to make to Poland's charges.

May Get Chance

There probably will be no immediate decision on acceptance or rejection of Franco's invitation, but the possibility arose Spain might be permitted to state her case before the council.

Spanish sources said Franco might send a representative to the council, if asked, on the condition that he be allowed to speak without taking the role of defending a nation "on trial."

Some authorities suggested the council under its elastic powers could call upon a non-voting nonmember to participate in its own interests, if desired, in order that both sides might be heard.

Similarly, in its wide latitude of operation, the council could send members or delegated technicians to Spain as an investigate body if the evidence of Poland —and supporting arguments expected to be offered by Russia, France and Mexico against Spain — indicates that such action is necessary.

First A-Bomb News

The post-midnight cabinet statement in Madrid contained the first official mention of allegations concerning the atomic bomb. On that score the Polish accusation had gone no further than to charge that German scientists were "devising new means of warfare" in Spain, but unofficial organizations and sources in the United States and Paris subsequently asserted that atomic research was involved.

United States policy on the Spanish question indicated support for the idea of a full hearing of the case.

The U. S. and Britain currently maintain that Spanish problems must be resolved by the Spanish people.

It appeared unlikely that the Spanish question would be reached on Monday. The Iranian issue is ahead of it on the provisional agenda.

Franco Cabinet Asks for UN Inspection

By The Associated Press

MADRID, April 13 — The Franco cabinet describing the latest accusations against Spain as part of a world Communist campaign, today invited the United Nations to send a commission to this country to "prove the absolute falsity" of charges that German scientists are working on the atomic bomb in Spain.

In a brief communique, issued after its meeting, the cabinet also termed "false" and "absurd" charges brought by Poland at the United Nations security council meeting in New York that Spain was endangering world peace.

Poland also had asserted that

New Negotiations Over Free India in Crucial Stage

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The new negotiations over India's freedom from England—one of the greatest and most dangerous of the world's unsolved problems—are verging on their crucial moment.

The British cabinet delegation which recently arrived at New Delhi with a fresh offer of independence, has had its consultations with the various Indian political parties. Now the time has arrived "for these political organizations to face each other across the conference table and try to iron out differences which have existed for generations and frequently have resulted in bloodshed.

DewittMackenzie

The London delegation—headed by Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India, and including Sir Stafford Cripps, who conducted the ill-fated mission of 1942—has notified the Indian public that the time has come for "necessary consultation between Indian parties."

The statement characterizes this as "the most important phase of the negotiations" and says that "it is a phase which calls for the utmost efforts from the leading statesmen of India and from the cabinet mission to arrive at a solution acceptable to all sides."

Putting It Mildly

That is indeed a moderate description of a [illegible] situation which has erupted with extreme violence periodically.

The two major political parties are the All-India congress, dominated by Mahatma Gandhi, and the Moslem league, headed by Mohamed Ali Jinnah. One of the great difficulties in the past has lain in the fact that these parties divide not only on political affairs but along religious lines. The name of the Moslem league speaks for itself—it is made up of Moslems (Mohammedans). The All India congress claims to be non-religious, but it is comprised mainly of Hindus.

Tradition has it that these two religions are like oil and water to each other, and certainly this has found support in the bitterness of their conflict at times. Still, having spent much time in India studying the position, your correspondent is one of those who believe that Moslems and Hindus can and will mix—because he has seen them getting along together in greatest amity when there were no busy-bodies about to stir up quarrels.

Be that as may, one of the greatest difficulties between the two major parties lies in the fact that the Hindus out-number the Moslems three to one, and the latter under the powerful leadership of Jinnah are fearful of trusting themselves to such a majority. The Hindu population is roughly 2[illegible] and the Moslem [illegible].

Because of this Jinnah [illegible] for Pakistan, that is an independent Moslem state. The Hindus, on the other hand, are standing pat for a unified India. The immediate problem, therefore, is to reconcile the divergent views of the Moslem league and the All India congress.

When you speak of these two political parties you are talking about Mahatma Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah. That's how powerful these two great leaders are. I know both of them personally and can testify that they can be a stubborn pair.

However, with expert handling I believe India's problem can be solved. And so it is indeed encouraging to hear from the British mission that it's confident it will be possible to "so reach that decision which the people of India so anxiously await and which will be welcomed throughout the world."

Brewers Plan Ads on Wheat Situation

HARRY STOCK RITES TO BE HELD MONDAY

Former Real Estate Man and Shovel Co. Engineer Dies.

Funeral services for Harry F. Stock, 59, former Marion real estate man and mechanical engineer at the Marion Power Shovel Co., have been set for Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after [illegible].

Mr. Stock had been ill since Christmas and was bedfast a month. He suffered with pneumonia, and death was caused by a heart attack, with which he was stricken at his home at 1125 East Center street about 10 a. m. Friday.

Born July 2, 1886 in Morrow county, he was a son of [illegible] and Mary A. Milligan Stock, [illegible] a native of Columbus [illegible] and the mother of Morrow county. Nov. 23, 1917, he married Frances W. Aiken in Marion. A resident of Marion 39 years, he came here from Morrow county. In 1917 he became associated with the Marion Steam Shovel [illegible] where he was employed 15 [illegible]. He then left to engage in the real estate business, and in 193[illegible] he returned to the position of engineer with the company and worked there until his last illness.

Surviving with his widow are a daughter, Mrs. Robert Smith of Cleveland, a sister, Mrs. James Smith of Mt. Gilead, and two brothers, James Stock of near Fulton and William Stock of [illegible] Columbia. A son, Lt. J[illegible] S. Stock died in an airplane crash near Parsons Army Air field at Coffeyville, Kan., Oct. 20, 1944.

During World War II, cars killed more than twice as many Americans as did the Japs and the Germans combined. Many hundreds of these victims died on the production front.

Pleads Not Guilty To Reckless Driving

Rufus Messenger, 27, of 484 West Center street, pleaded not guilty today in municipal court to charges of reckless driving. The charges were brought against him by Chambers Johns of Walhonding and grew out of an automobile accident last Tuesday at 3:20 a. m. in which four persons, including Messenger, were injured.

According to police report, Messenger drove into the rear of a semi-trailer truck, driven by Johns, which had stopped on North Main street at the Erie railroad tracks to allow a train to pass. Johns was not reported injured.

Date of Messenger's hearing has not been set. His attorney is George T. Geran.

FLIGHT PATH OF V-2 ROCKET. Diagram traces estimated flight path of the German V-2 rocket which it is expected to follow when it is launched early next month in a test to be conducted by the Army Ordnance department at White Sands, N. M. Diagram was prepared by General Electric Company engineers, who will participate in the test, from data on German rocket flights. The test will be held for the purpose of rocket research and development and securing of scientific information about the upper atmosphere. The rocket is expected to reach an altitude of more than 68 miles.

GOVERNOR IN SHAPE FOR SEASON OPENERS

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has told The Associated Press he is in great shape for the baseball openers at which he is scheduled to appear. He and Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler will assist in the opening day ceremonies at Marion April 30 when the local Cardinals begin their season against the Lima Terriers.

William McKechnie and Jimmy Wilson of the Cincinnati Reds delivered a personal invitation to the governor, a former ball player, to pitch the first ball at the Cincinnati-Chicago National league opener in Cincinnati next Tuesday.

Lausche facetiously said Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, the governor's Republican election opponent two years ago, should get a good mask and chest protector because the first pitch would have plenty of steam.

Lausche also plans to attend Cleveland's American league game next Saturday in the city where he formerly was mayor. The present mayor, Tom Burke, will deliver the first pitch there and Lausche will catch.

The governor said he had written instructions which he hoped Burke would follow so the mayor would give a creditable performance.

CONTACT INDUSTRIES IN CANCER CAMPAIGN

Junior C. of C. Committee Presses Drive for Funds.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce cancer drive was extended to Marion industries yesterday with the announcement that the industrial canvass committee had contacted nine companies.

Robert Morrison, chairman of the industrial committee, announced his committee had contacted the following industries: McMillen Feed Mills Inc. of Ohio, General Excavator Co., Osgood Co., Commercial Steel Casting Co., Ward-Stilson Co., Marion Metal Products Co., Marion Milling Co., Marion Union Stock Yards, and radio station WMRN.

Many other industries still are to be contacted, Chairman Morrison said, but his committee hopes to complete its work within the next several days.

From the cancer drive has sprung a Junior Chamber of Commerce publication, the "Jaycee Booster," a mimeographed paper which will be published every two weeks giving information on Junior Chamber activities. First publication was completed today and will be placed in pay envelopes of industrial employes. Committee in charge of the publication includes Earl Purdy, chairman; Raymond Coleman, John Wissler and Don Flach.

Next regular meeting of the Junior Chamber will be next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Marion Reserve Power Co. Terminal building. A discussion of cancer drive progress will be one of the features of the program.

The $25,000 cancer drive is part of a nationwide campaign to raise funds for control and treatment of cancer. Fifty per cent of the money received will be used locally.

Harding Nine Set to Launch Season Monday; Trackmen Book Galion

Coss or Owens Due to Face New Bloomington Sluggers

BY JIM DAREY

Harding High school will pin its hopes on either Jim Coss or Jack Owens to start them to victory in the season opening game against New Bloomington Monday at Lincoln Park at 4 p. m. Coach W. N. Wiley said one of the two would be starting pitcher. The game not only opens Harding's season, but also ranks as the first scheduled baseball tilt for the entire county.

Coach Paul Forsyth of New Bloomington said he would start Tucker on the mound for the county team.

Harding's starting lineup will be Mitchell or Zeller at first, Weaver at second, Hill at third, Brown at shortstop, Taylor in left field, Huddle in center and Ralston in right. Lee will catch.

New Bloomington Lineup

New Bloomington will start Withrow at first, Rothaus at second, Seiter at third, Furman at shortstop, Kurtz in left field, Ruble in center, and Jones in right. Stuber will be Tucker's battery mate.

Harding has the edge on New Bloomington with respect to practice. The locals have two weeks of after school sessions under their belt while the New Bloomington team has been confined to workouts during physical education periods.

Two More Games Carded

Coach Wiley said two more games have been scheduled, at Galion, April 26 and Galion here May 15.

Other games scheduled by the Presidents are, April 22, at Bucyrus; April 29, at New Bloomington; May 6, Richwood; May 9, Bucyrus; May 13, Richwood.

Harding Thinclads to Invade Galion for Practice Meet

Harding High school has scheduled a practice track meet with Galion High school for Monday at Galion. All events except the pole vault and discus throw will be run off. It will be the first meet for each school.

Coach George Niemi says he has good material in all the events. Earl Strobel looks very good in the dashes, Niemi reports, and should set some excellent records. In the distance running Harry Richardson and Joseph Gentz have been outstanding in the limited practice the weather has allowed to date. Buddy Eyler and Tom Dwyer are the stars in the hurdling department.

Other boys who will make the trip to Galion are: Charles Brown, Charles Cline, Don Clinger, Doug Darr, Robert Dorkance, Frank Eastman, Gene Frederick, Darrell Fleming, Jim Hoffman, James Loeffert, Warren McFadden, George Miller Jr., Leland Myers, Gene Preston, Norbert Reddy, Larry Russell, Jerry Ruhse, Robert Smith, Bob Short, Howard Tillis.

Snatches of Sports

NEW YORK, April 12 — The boxing managers' "guild" is feuding with the Michigan commission about what the managers think was an unjustified penalty against one of their members... As a result Detroit Promoter Nick Londes and possibly Commissioner John J. Hettche are expected here Monday to smooth things out so that New York fighters won't always be "busy" when they're wanted in Detroit. With the $100,000 Santa Anita meeting opening Tuesday, purse distribution on the Grand Circuit will hit a new high of $1,525,000 this season... The All America football conference has decided to sign only college players, preferably graduates, hereafter. Does that mean after you knock an opponent down and step on his face you'll have to apologize in a "Harvard" accent?

Fit to be Tied

Clemson and Davidson were playing a typical early-season baseball game the other day—ragged but with a close score... As the teams went into the sixth with the count at 4-4, a Clemson stenographer who had been given time off from her duties for the game arose and started out of the stands... "Where you goin'?" asked a nearby baseball fan... "Five o'clock — quitting time," the gal replied and walked on out.

Observation Car

Since the Mexican league rumpus arose, this Dept. has noticed several suggestions that any ball player good enough for the majors should be paid at least $5000 (some make it 10 G's)... With an all-season player limit of 25, that would make a minimum roll of $125,000, plus whatever it cost for the 15 others each club is allowed until June 15... From here it seems any such figure would make it very tough for a kid whose ability to make the big league grade looked doubtful.

Police Probe Torso Slaying of Girl

MILWAUKEE, Ore., April 12—The nude torso of a slender young girl, wrapped in old clothes and burlap sacking, was hauled from the Willamette river last night and a coroner estimated the body had been in the water between 24 and 36 hours.

Ray Rilance, Clackamas county coroner, said the girl appeared to be in her teens or early twenties and weighed about 110 to 115 pounds. He said the knife-wielder did "rather a neat job—at least knew where the joints were." The head, arms and legs were missing.

Police immediately began the difficult task of identification, hoping for clues in the garments in which the girl was wrapped.

TRIBE TRIES GIANTS IN CLEVELAND GAMES

First Home Tilt Set Today; Sunday Clash Booked.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 13—Cleveland's Indians go into action on home grounds for the first time this season today in an exhibition game with the New York Giants.

In shaky physical condition after a road series with the Giants that started a week ago, the Indians will warm up against the New York club today and tomorrow before opening the season Tuesday against the White Sox in Chicago.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians selected Allie Reynolds, burning ace who copped 18 victories last year, for mound duty. Bill Voiselle, star of the Giants staff, was to oppose him.

The Indians, who arrived here early this morning after being rained out of yesterday's scheduled duel in Roanoke, Va., hold a four-to-one lead over the Giants in the series. One game ended in a tie.

Reds and Tigers Tangle at Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—The Cincinnati Reds wound up their exhibition schedule against major league teams here today, opposing the Detroit Tigers at Red Bird stadium.

Bucky Walters and Ed Heusser were Manager Bill McKechnie's choices to pitch for the Reds, while Steve O'Neill, head Tiger, said he would space Paul (Dizzy) Trout, Stubby Overmire and Hal White over the nine-inning route.

The Reds play the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association at Indianapolis Sunday, take Monday off and Tuesday open the National league season in their home park with the Chicago Cubs as the opposition.

Detroit defeated the Reds, 4-3, yesterday at Dayton to take a 2-1 lead in the four-game series which opened Wednesday at Terre Haute, Ind.

Claridon's Champions Hold Sports Dinner

Claridon's league winning cage team was honored last night at Hotel Harding with a recognition banquet at which letters for both basketball and six-man football were awarded by Coach A. B. Augenstein. Carl H. Lehner was toastmaster.

Rev. Tennyson Guyer of Celina gave the principal address. He spoke on the necessity of cultivating the right "all in the game" attitude toward sports and stressed the fact that even though a team won a championship, benefits were negligible if the wrong spirit prevailed.

Boys who received letters in both sports were: Jim Ruth, Gene Ruth, Nolan Gellman, Odus Burgraf, Vernon Chapman, Harold Trout and Russell Wickersham. Bob Porterfield was awarded a varsity basketball letter.

Grid Coach Resigns at Zanesville High

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., April 13 — Joe Austin resigned his position as head football coach at Zanesville High school today, effective May 1, and told the board of education he planned to enter business in Stamford, Conn.

A former four-letter man at Denison university, he previously coached at Shawnee and Barnesville and was assistant coach at Canton Timken before coming here three years ago.

The board voted to offer the vacancy to Assistant Coach George Vierebome.

Marion's Cardinals Due Home

Boss Schang and New Squad To Hit Town Sunday or Monday To Drill for Opener.

Marion fans will soon get a look at the crew who will carry local pennant hopes in this year's Ohio State league race. Manager Wally Schang is expected to arrive sometime Sunday or Monday with his selections from the group trying-out at the Albany, Ga., training camp.

Practice will be carried out on the Lincoln park diamond from now until opening day April 30 when the Cardinals will play the Lima Terriers and play host to Baseball Commissioner "Happy" Chandler and Gov. Lausche.

All players on the Cardinal roster now have had either previous professional baseball experience or are the survivors of a tough training period. Quality of the players is still unknown and probably will be so until they get into action. However, officials of the St. Louis Cardinals have promised Marion a winning team.

Masters Tournament Winner Thinks He's Regained Touch After War Service.

By WILBUR JENNINGS
AP Newsfeatures

MIAMI, Fla. — Herman Keiser, the Akron, Ohio, golf professional who won the recent Masters tourney, seems to have regained his putting eye after 37 months in the Navy, 31 of them aboard a light cruiser.

"I think I'm getting the touch back," he said. "My best year was in 1942, just before I entered the service, when I was eighth money winner. I've got a lot of lost time to make up and maybe I can do it before this year is over."

The year of 1942 which Keiser claims was his best saw him pair with Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., to win Miami's International four-ball tournament.

Before going into the Navy, Keiser was known as "Camera Eye" Herman around the greens. He had a knack for getting the ball into the hole at the right time and from good distances.

He got out of the Navy in time to tie Ben Hogan in the Phoenix Open the past winter at 273, which was 11 under par and equaled the tournament record at Phoenix. However, Little Ben finished first in the playoff. That's probably why Keiser was rooting for Hogan to get a birdie 3 or a 5 on that final hole in the Masters. Herman didn't want a playoff.

The ex-sailor was fourth in the Texas Open and seventh in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Open. When the pros left Florida in March, Keiser was among the year's first six money winners.

Keiser has been playing golf since he was 13 years old. He was born in Springfield, Mo., Oct. 7, 1946. As an amateur, he copped numerous state and local tournaments and finished second to Craig wood in the Louisville, Ky., Open in 1934.

A meeting with Horton Smith in 1935 caused Keiser to turn pro. He has been associated with the Firestone Country Club since 1941, and has been married four years.

Dodger Catcher Does About Face, Says He Didn't Like What Rickey Said.

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, April 13—Seeing himself "the whipping boy of the Dodgers," Mickey Owen, Brooklyn's veteran catcher, has "leap-frogged" into the Mexican baseball league.

For better or for worse he changed his mind yesterday for the third time and decided to jump organized baseball and play in the Mexican league after all. Two weeks ago, when he was discharged from the Navy at Sampson, N. Y., he announced he would come to Mexico, but last Tuesday, in San Antonio, asserted he had reconsidered and would rejoin the Dodgers.

The 30-year-old backstop attributed his latest change of heart to "some things that Branch Rickey (Brooklyn president) had said about me that I didn't like." Rickey had announced Owen would be traded when he rejoined the Brooks.

"I was so confused that I didn't know what to do," Mickey said after he arrived dramatically late yesterday afternoon by airplane, accompanied by his wife, Gloria. "Rickey had told me over the long distance telephone to come back. Alfonso Pasquel (a brother of Jorge Pasquel, Mexican league president) asked me to stay. Everybody was putting pressure on me, some to go back, some to stay."

"I finally left San Antonio to talk to Rickey. I confidentially believe that I would have gone ahead and seen him if I hadn't read in the newspapers of his remarks about me. He was going to punish me and make me the whipping boy of the Dodgers.

"Somewhere in Louisiana we turned back to Texas. We met one of the Pasquels in Houston and from there went to Nuevo Laredo where we stayed Thursday night at the home of Alfonso. From there we took a plane here. I'm glad to be here and I'm going to stay in Mexico."

Owen said he had signed a five-year contract. He will be catcher and manager, probably of Torreon or Vera Cruz. He did not disclose the terms of the contract, but it is believed he received a bonus of $12,500 for signing in addition to an annual salary of $15,000, plus living expenses for himself and family, an apartment and a sufficient amount to pay his income tax. Owen also will go into the wholesale grocery business as a sideline.

"I've won the great battle of my Mexican league career," declared the elated Jorge Pasquel.

CUB ROOKIE BENCHES 'SLUGGER' NICHOLSON

Marvin Rickert Blasts Star Out of Regular Job.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13 — Marvin Rickert, the lean, lamming rookie who did brawny Bill Nicholson out of his outfield job with the Chicago Cubs, was front and center today as the Cubs and White Sox came home to wind-up their disputed "city series."

After doing civic battle at the Sox's Comiskey park today and at Wrigley Field tomorrow, the two clubs square away for the regular season get-away Tuesday when the Sox entertain Cleveland and the National league champions invade Cincinnati.

Unlike the White Sox, who have made many changes since last season, the Cubs present the benching of Nicholson, National league homerun and runs batted in champion in 1943 and 1944, as the chief variation from the line-up that won the 1945 title for Manager Charley Grimm.

It will take more dynamite than the feeble batting fireworks Nicholson popped this season to dislodge Rickert from the right field occupancy. The 25-year-old Long Branch, Wash., left-handed swatter scotched any chance Big Nick might have had to grace the opening line-up when he blasted a homer, double and single yesterday as the Cubs trimmed the Sox 11-2 at Davenport, Ia., and took a 2 to 1 edge in the series which began in California. Rickert hit .389 in spring exhibition games compared to .120 for Nicholson.

"We're going to give Nick a lot of batting practice," explained Grimm, who is a Nicholson fan from way back. "Maybe he'll find himself suddenly." Rickert just grins and says nothing.

U.S.W.V. Muster Day Observance Set Here

Arrangements were made for the annual observance of Muster Day on Friday, April 19, at a meeting of Marion Camp No. 22, United Spanish War Veterans, last night at the Armory. The Muster Day program will be held at the Legion Dugout and will be a joint meeting with Betsy Ross Auxiliary. A potluck dinner will precede the program.

John Monk, commander, named the following committee to represent the camp on the general Memorial day committee: Fred Morrison, Frank Letterle, Elmer R. Bondley, James Orahood, James Cusick and T. E. Kinnear. The meeting will be held the first week in May. An invitation was received from Columbus Camp No. 49, to attend Muster Day exercises in Columbus on April 17.

Y.M.C.A. TO OPEN SCHOOL FOR SOFTBALL UMPIRES

T. H. McKenney to Instruct Arbiters at Course.

To help correct the deficiency of competent softball umpires, the Y. M. C. A. is organizing an umpire school to start next week. T. H. McKenney, former president of the softball commission, will be the instructor. Classes will be held one night each week.

Shortly before the opening of the season May 6, an examination will be given and all men passing will be registered as official umpires. This year a fee of $1 per game will be paid umpires who work behind the plate and 50 cents per game to base umpires.

All men interested in becoming registered umpires are asked to contact Kenneth Somerlot at the Y.M.C.A. immediately.

Teams interested in playing this season are asked to send their $25 entry fee and a player roster to the Y as soon as possible. The deadline for entries is April 29. The softball commission has promised to organize several new leagues, including an All-Star league, if sufficient interest is shown.

BOHYER SPEAKS AT Y BASKETBALL BANQUET

Coach Praises Sport, Urges School Bond Support.

Dewey Bohyer, Harding High school athletic director, spoke on "Trends in Basketball," at the Y. M. C. A. Independent basketball league banquet last night at the Y. He contrasted the slow breaking deliberate type of game played a few years ago with the speeded up fast breaking spectators brand now seen.

He told several anecdotes about the high school playing days of some of the guests present who began basketball at Harding under his coaching. High praise was expressed for basketball as a character builder.

Commenting that Marion is a very good basketball town, Mr. Bohyer opined that the game would be greatly improved if better playing facilities were provided. He urged all present to get behind the school bond issue, to be voted on at the May 7 primary election.

If the issue carries, he pointed out, a new high school complete with a gym whose seating capacity of 4,000 would be built.

Earl Hale, Y. M. C. A. general secretary, presented trophies to the winners in the Y league. Gene Shellhorn accepted the championship cup for McMillen Feeds. Robert Walsh was awarded the runnerup trophy won by Isaly Dairy and the third place trophy was accepted for Roecker's Bakery by Merle Ruehrmund.

Tread Your Tires

Many users of HAWKINSON TREADS tell us that our treads actually improve their tires—that they experience INCREASED mileage on them. There are several very good reasons for this, two of these reasons being that (a) no heat is applied to the cords and inner rubber during the process of application, and that (b) the tread is applied under natural running conditions that are not used even in making a new tire, causing HAWKINSON TREADS to run cooler.

No HAWKINSON TREAD will be applied until the tire has been given the most rigid inspection and the carcass found to be in first class condition.

Mystery Drama On Ohio Bill

"Experiment Perilous" To Be Shown Here Five Days Starting Sunday.

"Experiment Perilous" starring Hedy Lamarr, George Brent, and Paul Lukas will be shown for five days starting Sunday at the Ohio theater.

A mystery drama, this picture tells the story of a beautiful girl who is married to a wealthy philanthropist, who is, in reality, a psychopathic killer. He tries to destroy her and their little son by a strange mental torture.

When the symptoms of his actions are recognized by Dr. Bailey, played by George Brent, who is called in on the case, Hedy Lamarr, as the wife, is further endangered when her husband discovers that the doctor is in love with her. He then plots to include the doctor in his murder by torture.

"Sentimental Journey" starring Maureen O'Hara, John Payne, and William Bendix will be shown for seven days starting Friday.

This is the story of a broadway producer and his actress-wife, who have a very happy and complete life together. Julie, his wife, played by Maureen O'Hara becomes seriously ill during rehearsals and they are stopped. The doctor who treats Julie warns her that her heart ailment is critical and that she must rest for several weeks. A lonely orphan comes into their life later and causes trouble between them. When Julie suddenly dies Hitty, the little girl, tries to help John in his lonely life.

"Tars And Spars" Booked for Palace Screen 3 Days

Janet Blair, Alfred Blake and Marc Platt Listed in Top Roles in Cast.

"Tars and Spars" starring Alfred Drake, Janet Blair and Marc Platt will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

A musical, this picture tells of the life of the members of the Coast Guard, their work and their play. It was produced in cooperation with the Coast Guard and shows the kind of entertainment which they have and which they can put on.

Short features which will be shown are a Travel Talk, a comedy, the latest Paramount News, and "House Tricks."

Wednesday only, on the stage will be the Corn Huskers' Jamboree. Shown on the screen will be "Mysterious Intruder" starring Richard Dix.

The Jamboree gang is under the management of John Lair, radio's best authority on American Folk Music. It is composed of acts from Renfro Valley such as singing, violin playing, yodeling and other interesting features. Lily May, the originator of the "Coon Creek Girls" presents several numbers, and also appearing is Red Herron, well-known as a fiddler. Comedy is provided by "Shorty" Hobbs and Judy Perkins is the Yodeling cowgirl.

Another in a series of pictures about "The Whistler," the "Mysterious Intruder" tells of a private investigator whose ruthlessness and greed lead him over the borderline of the law. On the hunt of a missing heiress, he hires a girl to pose as her and tries to obtain the fortune for himself.

A double feature, "Cornered" starring Dick Powell, and "Blondie's Lucky Day" with Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

The former is the story of a man who learns of the death of his French wife at the hands of political plotters in France, and sets out to avenge her death. In the latter picture, as in the many other Blondie pictures, it doesn't take long for Dagwood to get involved in trouble. He and Blondie go into business for themselves and are all but bankrupt when they are rescued by a discharged Wac and Mr. Dithers, Dagwood's boss.

Mountie Story Is Coming Here

Gary Cooper, Madeline Carroll, Paulette Goddard and Preston Foster in Cast.

"Northwest Mounted Police" starring Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard and Preston Foster, and "Blond Alibi" with Martha O'Driscoll and Ton Tom Neal will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former tells of a group of people in Canada who joined together to attempt to run the Mounted Police out of the country. The story in the latter deals with the mysterious slaying of a prominent physician revealed to have had several enemies. Among them are his intending bride and her long-missing sweetheart.

"Hotel Reserve" starring James Mason and Lucie Mannheim, and "Nob Hill" with George Raft, Joan Bennett, Vivian Blaine and Peggy Ann Garner will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

A mystery thriller, the former tells of the police investigation into a case in which the guilty person is proved to be one of a number of guests staying at a holiday hotel. "Nob Hill," a musical drama in technicolor, is set in the world-famous Barbaray Coast at the turn of the century. It tells of the people of that place and their gaiety versus that of the high class people of that time.

"Junior Prom" starring Freddie Stewart, June Preisser, Abe Lyman and his orchestra, and Eddie Heywood and his orchestra, and "Phantom of the Plains" with Wild Bill Elliott as Red Ryder and Bobby Blake will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

A musical comedy, the former tells of the troubles which face a group of high school kids when they attempt to hold a school election. A western picture, the latter is another in the series of Red Ryder pictures, and tells of his experiences with the people of the western lands.

List Top Stars in Film Coming To State Theater

"Dough Girls" starring Ann Sheridan and Alexis Smith, and "Saddle Leather Law" with Charles Starrett and Vi Athens will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

"Mrs. Parkington" with Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon, and "Mark of the Whistler" with Richard Dix and Janis Carter will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Rockin' in the Rockies" with Mary Beth Hughes and Jay Kirby will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

STOCKS GIVE GROUND IN SHORT SESSION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—Stocks gave up further ground in today's market with steels and merchandising shares prominent on the decline.

Air transport issues were weak at the opening, reflecting unfavorable earnings reports.

Transfers were around 600,000 shares for the brief Saturday session. Losses of fractions to more than a point predominated near the close.

Manufacturing issues, pinched by shortages incident to the soft coal stoppage, reflected concern over effects on income. Some lightening of accounts was attributed by brokers to belief that the market which approached its February peak early in the week had not completed a corrective move.

"Yes," I answered, thinking of my problem as I spoke. [illegible]

"No, that wouldn't be [illegible]," Dicky agreed. [illegible]

[illegible]

Always In the Background

[illegible]

"Are you boys getting dressed for the [illegible]?" I asked.

[illegible]

"That's good," I said. "I want the first one of you who finishes dressing [illegible] to come over here for a minute or two. There's something I want you to do before you go. Tell Junior what I have said, will you, please?"

Repeats Himself

"Sure thing," he repeated. "Does it make any difference who's the [illegible]?"

"I don't think you heard me the first time," I told him [illegible]. "I said I wanted the one who first finished dressing."

"So you did," he acknowledged. "Okay! I'll tell my [illegible] and the one who gets under the wire first will come knocking at your door."

"Thank you, Roderick," I said with another laugh. "Good-bye."

Dicky was [illegible] me as I hung up the receiver.

"I gather," he said, "that the [illegible] up the [illegible] for more [illegible]."

"Yes," I said. "Roderick took the message [illegible] to Junior and promised that the one who finished dressing first would come up here at once. And now—" I stopped.

Racking Her Brains

"Now you're racking your brains to find out what the chore is for a man you've summoned. One of them'll have to get one, you know, even if Junior comes over as you're hoping."

"I know," I said despondently. "The first question Roderick will ask when Junior goes back is the nature of the errand. Can you think of anything?"

He gave me a comradely grin.

"How about saying that you're late in dressing, and that I need help in getting my handkerchief [illegible] from the dresser drawer?"

"Splendid!" I commended, and then I busied myself with trifles while Dicky dressed in the bathroom.

I knew he would call me whenever he needed anything he could not manage from his wheel chair so I waited, with my mind at ease, for the summons to sound.

But the ease departed swiftly when I opened the door and saw Roderick instead of Junior, standing there.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Respiratory Ills

Mothers, be on your guard against long-continued head colds in your children. Persistent nasal drainage may be the aftermath of a cold as well as the beginning of a stubborn and health-wrecking sinus infection.

According to Dr. J. Ivor Griffiths of England, sinus infection in children may be a contributing cause for asthma, bronchitis and chronic running ear.

The sinuses are air spaces in the face connected with the nose and lined with mucous membrane. Infections in these areas are hard to clear up because they are inaccessible and hard to get at. Nevertheless in the majority of cases an early sinus infection will respond to simple treatment. The longer the condition lasts, the less likely it is that complete recovery will take place without some kind of operation.

Hence, it is doubly important that when sinus infection first starts, it be promptly treated, first, because this is the time when treatment is most effective, second, because chronic or prolonged infection in the sinuses may be the cause of other disease.

In treating sinus infection, the most important step is to promote drainage, that is, to make sure that the secretions in the sinuses can drain out through the nose. If this is done, the lining membrane is given a chance to get over the inflammation.

Sometimes little growths form in the sinuses, called polyps. If this happens, it is often necessary that the polyps be removed, so that drainage of the sinuses will occur. In order to encourage the drainage, the lining membrane is shrunk by using such drugs as ephedrine and epinephrine. Some physicians also like to use suction, employing a water pump to pump out the secretions. Of course, this will be done gently so that the tissues are not injured.

It is also important to build up the general health with proper food, fresh air and sunshine. The use of heat by means of short-wave treatment, which is an electrical form of treatment producing heat deep in the tissues, may also be helpful in overcoming inflammation and speeding up the drainage. In more severe cases it may be necessary to puncture certain of the sinuses and wash them out with antiseptic solutions.

It is suggested that if the kind of germs which are producing the infection are the kind that are destroyed by penicillin the sinuses may be filled with a penicillin solution.

Remember that the earlier the treatment is carried out the better will be the results.

"Expandable" House Plan Helps Solve Problem of High Cost

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

DAMPNESS IN CLOSET

Q: The walls of my clothes closet are so damp that the clothes hanging in it become damp also. Please advise me what to do

A: If the walls face the outside of the house, they become chilled, and the moist, warm air of the house condenses on the cold surfaces. Insulating wallboard over furring strips on the cold walls would reduce the condensation. Try to locate the cause of dampness in the air of your house and take steps to get rid of the dampness. One way to help matters is to put a low-watt electric light bulb inside the closet set on a stand, well out of contact with anything that might burn or scorch. The slight heat will dry up much of the dampness. Or you can get a special device that holds calcium chloride, a chemical having the property of absorbing moisture out of the air. Inquire at a large hardware store. If the outside walls are porous, you will need the help of a building contractor to do whatever he finds necessary

STAIN ON FLOOR

Q: There is a dark brown stain on my varnished floor, caused probably by something wet or acid that remained overnight. The stain isn't blistered and doesn't seem deep. How can I remove it?

A: The stain may be only in the wax finish on the surface. Take off the wax with turpentine; the stain may come off with it. If the stain is in the varnish itself, rub with fine steel wool and turpentine. Then, if necessary, touch up the spot with a light coat of floor varnish, feathering out the edges to blend in with the floor finish.

DROPS FROM SMOKE-PIPE

Q. I had to buy a new smokepipe because my old one was eaten away. This one has started to ooze out black liquid which drops on the floor. My furnace is also being attacked. I burn coke. The plumber says it is chemicals in the coke that are making the trouble, but I have burned coke a long time and only had this condition during tghe past two years. What is the cause and remedy?

A. Coke burns without smoke or soot, and I doubt if it can be held responsible for the "creosote." It is my belief that some time previously another fuel was burned that has caused the formation of creosote in the chimney. Sappy wood would cause creosote in a chimney. The accumulation may be only in the upper part. You may be able to scrape it off carefully. If not, the upper part of the chimney might be leaking and may require rebuilding. Your chimney may also need a good flue lining.

PLASTERING JOB

Q: I have attic space that I would like to convert to a child's playroom and I wish to do the work myself. I will use gypsum lath board and plaster. How should I go about mixing the wall plaster.

A: The mixture for the brown and scratch coats should be one part of plaster to two parts of weight of clean, sharp, dry sand. One bag of plaster including the sand will cover about nine square yards over wood lathe and over gypsum lathe about 12 square yards. No sand is used in the white finish coat. Three parts of lime putty by measure are mixed with one part of dry gauging plaster. Your dealer can give you a pamphlet containing complete directions for mixing. Your public library undoubtedly will have handbooks on plastering which will give more detailed information on the application of plaster. Column space is too limited for a long discourse on the subject.

COAL GAS

Q: Six weeks ago we started to have trouble from coal gas. We have a hot air furnace and when it is banked for the night, the house becomes filled with coal gas, even when all drafts are open wide. The man who installed the furnace says it is all right.

A: It may be that the iron cement between the furnace sections has cracked and coal gas leaks through from the firepot to the air section. The heated air in turn would carry the coal gas into the rooms. If you notice the fumes only at night when the fire is banked, the trouble may be due to the incorrect banking of the fire.

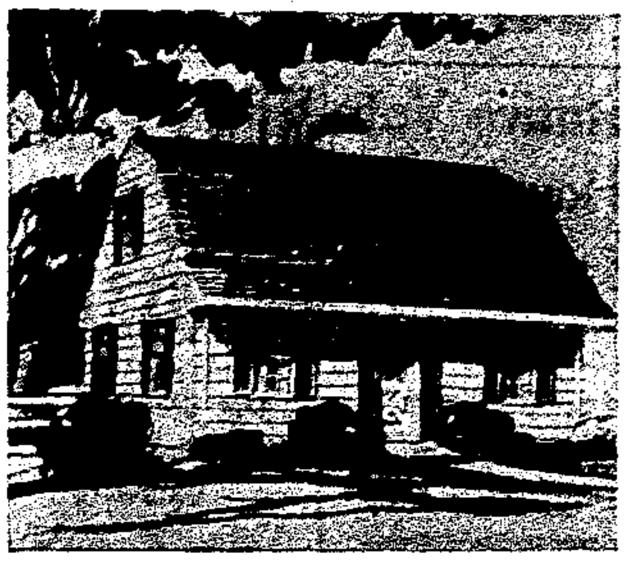
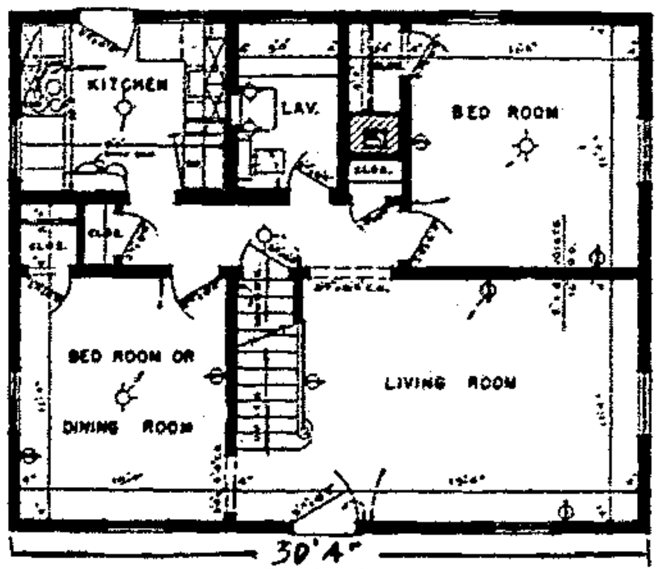
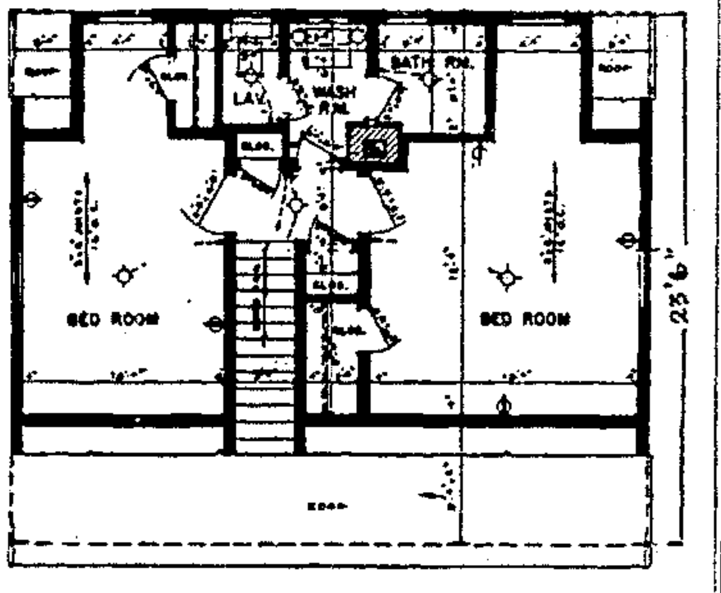
New Designs and Floor Plans.





FIRST FLOOR PLAN



SECOND FLOOR PLAN

The present high cost of building presents a problem to the average man with a limited amount of cash or other resources. He is well aware of the fact that the luxuries which he had expected to enjoy in his new home are going to come very high in today's market, and he is beginning to understand that even the size of his new house may have to be reduced. Nevertheless a great majority of the prospective home builders will make an effort to get their own home built in the immediate future, problem or no problem.

The people who design and build homes are just as much concerned about the present conditions as the prospective home builders or owners are, and they have bent every effort toward a scheme or plan to meet the situation. The most practical of these seems to be that of the expandable house. In other words a house which will offer all of the basic necessities for comfortable living immediately, but which is so planned that it can be added to or expanded when building materials and labor are at a more favorable level. Thus today's investment will not be a stop-gap or temporary expedient, but rather the first step in a building project.

Method of Expansion

The expandable house plan shown here is one of many that have been suggested. It provides for a very comfortable, modern, home; to be built in three or more steps. The first step leaves the owner with a perfectly good house to live in, and each succeeding step expands and improves it with both economy and ease, because it is planned that way.

The nucleus of the house presents two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen and a complete bathroom. There is a stairway leading to a large unfinshed attic. You can move in and live with all the basic requirements.

The second step or operation consists of finishing off the attic with two additional bedrooms and another bathroom. You will note that the second bath is directly above the first one, and when the nucleus was built the required pumbing lines were extended up and capped off. You will note that one of the bedrooms in the nucleus plan adjoins the kitchen. It can now become the dining room, leaving a very nice guest room and bath on the first floor. Converting the bedroom to a dining room is merely a matter of changing the furniture, and perhaps the wall-paper.

The third step will provide for a garage on one side of the house, connected by a covered passage, and for a terrace or porch on the other side or across the front. When this stage is reached you will find a house which will appear double the size of the original nucleus home, and which will be everything that could be desired.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

Q. I will appreciate very much if you will send me a leaflet on the care of hardy begonias as well as others if you have this leaflet. I have two very large beds of these begonias which I covered over with about a foot of leaves, but I am wondering if they will rot under this covering. I have been told a few weeks ago that I should have covered them with straw as it does not rot like leaves do. It will be a loss if the plants rot for I have 50 from 12 to 18 inches high.

I also have four colors of mums which were covered with small black insects close to the blooms. Can you tell me what to use in a spray to prevent their return this coming fall as they bloom in late September and October?

I have several begonia plants called "special begonias" large leaf. I cannot describe the beauty of their bloom. I wish I knew their correct name. Perhaps you have a picture of begonias or a list of their names which I would appreciate having — Mrs. H.T.G., Cincinnati, O.

A. As long as you remove the heavy leaf mulch from your hardy begonias before growth starts this spring, you need not worry about their smothering.

There would be no preventive spray for the insects on your chrysanthemums. You would have to start spraying or dusting when they appear. They are probably plant lice and you can control them with Black Leaf 40 spray or a rotenone dust or spray.

The name "special" begonia means nothing. If you care to send in the leaf I will be glad to try to name them for you. There are hundreds of different varieties of begonias, so it would be impossible to try to identify them from a description.

Q. I would like to know what I can do for my delphinium. The plants look nice but the buds bunch up on the spikes and get dark and won't open and the leaves on the spikes do the same, they do not rot or dry up.

I raise hundreds of plants, the young plants threw flower spikes last fall and they were the same. Could you tell me what to do for it, and oblige? — D.E.A., Tipp City, O.

A. From your description, I believe that your delphiniums had what is known as the delphinium blacks, which is caused by a very tiny insect-like creature called the mite. Once your plant gets a severe infestation, there is really nothing that can be done about it. Usually, folks have a fairly satisfactory control by keeping naphthalene flakes around the base of the plant, particularly during the earlier part of the growing season. Naphthalene flakes are the same material that you use to keep moths out of woolen clothes. A slight sprinkling over the surface of the ground around the base of the plant is usually adequate.

The east coast states from Maine to Florida consume 30 per cent of the nation's motor fuel; 48 per cent of light fuel oils and domestic fuel oils; 40 per cent of industrial fuel oils and 64 per cent of its kerosene.

Witness Says Cline at Scene of Death

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13—The trial of Alfred Leonard Cline on charges of forgery and grand theft was in recess today following testimony by a hotel housekeeper that Mrs. Alice Carpenter died in a Macon, Ga., hotel in February, 1944, while Cline paced the corridor outside.

The trial is set to resume Monday.

Mrs. Mary Nell Kelly, housekeeper of the Lanier hotel in Macon, testified yesterday that Cline stayed there with a woman registered as Alma Carter, and identified a picture of Mrs. Carpenter as being the woman.

The prosecution is trying to prove that a woman who died and was cremated, on Cline's orders, in Dallas, Tex., on Oct. 17, 1944, under the name of Mrs. Alice W. Carpenter, was wealthy Mrs. Eva Delora Krebs Cline and that he forged certificates involving her $323,000 estate.

LONG DEADLOCK MAY DELAY PEACE TERMS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Prolonged deadlock among the big powers over five issues involved in European peace treaties threatened today to delay indefinitely the final peace settlements for the beaten Axis satellites.

High American officials were privately very pessimistic about the possibilities of breaking the deadlock at the meeting of foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France beginning April 25 at Paris.

These authorities, who could not be quoted by name, said it was virtually certain that the projected May 1 peace conference of 21 Allied nations which fought the European war to victory could not be held on schedule.

Officials said that, until it is held or some other means is found for making peace settlements, political conditions in Europe will remain highly unstable.

The principal peace issues on which the United States and Britain differ sharply with Russia are not new. They include the trusteeship Moscow seeks over the former Italian colony of Tripolitania; what reparations should be exacted of Italy; the U. S.-backed proposal for demilitarization of the Dodecanese islands, and the determination of the Istrian boundary between Italy and Yugoslavia.

A companion problem is Soviet policy of making bi-lateral treaties with the Balkan states — a practice the United States opposes on the ground that Russia thus gains special economic advantages.

SAYS PEACE GROUP HELPLESS IN CHINA

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, April 13—Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem Jr. disclosed today that the Sino-American peace committee of three, with substitutes having replaced all original members, is powerless to act in the Manchurian crisis.

Gillem said he has acquainted General Marshall, whom he temporarily replaced as the American member, with the seriousness of the Manchurian situation. He is awaiting instructions from Marshall, who emplaned from Washington yesterday to return as President Truman's special envoy to China.

The committee marked time today, its fact-finding mission to Manchuria halted short of that civil strife torn territory because of its impotency.

A source close to the committee said Marshall's immediate return is vital if accomplishments thus far toward unifying China are to be preserved.

(In Chungking, a Democratic league spokesman said there is a strong possibility that a compromise can be reached over the Manchurian question.)

From Chinhsien, the government newspaper New Life asserted that Communist troops were concentrating for an attack on Suichung. Considerable troop movement also was reported from Communist-held districts of Jehol province along the left flank of the Peiping-Mukden railway.

One cease fire team was still in Kaiyuan powerless to attempt to halt the civil strife until an agreement has been reached by government and Communist leaders.

All compromises so far have been rejected.

OPA CHARGES 9 WITH LIQUOR VIOLATIONS

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 13—The federal government filed criminal information bills yesterday against eight Louisville men and one from Dayton, O., charging sales of whisky aggregating $235,000 above ceiling prices.

The petitions filed in federal court here charged the sales took place in 1942-43. U. S. District Attorney Davis C. Walls said 536 barrels and 1,050 cases of liquor were involved in the deals, some of them selling for as much as five times the maximum price set by the OPA.

Largest operation was charged to J. Lee Friedman, Anchorage, who was accused of selling 220 barrels of whisky for approximately $80,000.

Friedman was fined $15,000 in 1944 in connection with sales at above maximum prices, Walls said.

Others named in the bills were Henry Goltsman, William Griffin, Milton J. Hyman, Phillip Levitch, Mortimer E. Pottslitzer, John L. Smith and Thomas W. Webb, all of Louisville, and Michael Nudleman, Dayton, Ohio.

Kaltenbrunner Admits He Knew of Orders

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 13—Ernest Kaltenbrunner, former head of the Nazi security police, admitted today he had been kept informed of Hitler extermination decrees, despite his previous declarations that he he had no knowledge of many Gestapo crimes.

Under cross examination by Assistant U. S. Prosecutor John Harlan Amen before the international military tribunal, Kaltenbrunner, who is on trial as a war criminal, said he was informed of Hitler's decrees for the extermination of Jews and the shooting of Allied captives.

Former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering was absent from the court for the third day, but a medical officer said the prisoner's cold was broken and he was expected to return to the dock Monday.

Registration papers were drawn up Thursday night for the reorganized Boy Scout Troop 23 of Prospect, now sponsored by the Prospect Lions club. The club also sponsors Cub Pack 23.

Scoutmaster of the troop which has a registration of 16 boys, is James W. Long. Troop committeemen all of whom are members of the Lion's club, are C. Russell, chairman; E. J. Briegel, Harold Thomas, Archie Cochran, Dr. Robert T. Gray, Harry Waxler and DeMar King.

Plans were made at the meeting for participation in camping and in the Scout circus this summer.

Marion Youth Held on Delinquency Charge

A 21-year-old Marion youth is being held by police on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old Logan, W. Va., girl.

He will be given a hearing in juvenile court next Tuesday. He and the girl were picked up by police last Tuesday at a North State street apartment where they had been staying, juvenile authorities said. The girl is being held in the county detention home pending the outcome of the hearing.

Gas Station Opened by Discharged Veteran

Robert T. Smith of Fairgrounds street, a recently discharged veteran, has opened a gasoline and service station at Melbourne and Silver streets this week. The site was formerly occupied by a service station which has been out of business for some time.

Smith, discharged at Camp Atterbury last November, is the holder of four battle stars, gained as a member of Patton's Third Army in its sweep across Europe a year ago. A driver in a quartermaster trucking company Smith drove on the Red Ball Express route, which operated from Paris and Cherbourg to the advancing front lines and supplied Patton's tanks with fuel after the Normandy breakthrough. He was in the army 21 months, 17 of which were spent overseas in England, Belgium, France, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Before entering the army he was employed at Marion Engineer Depot. Since his discharge prior to the opening of the service station he was employed by Sears-Roebuck.

American Aorta

THE PENNSYLVANIA railroad is turning a century of transportation service to the heart of the United States. It has been to this nation for 100 years what the aorta is to the human body—the main artery carrying blood from the heart to the branch arteries.

The simile takes away none of the prime importance of other railroads but only suggests that of all of them the Pennsylvania, by position and by legend, comes closest to performing the fundamental function of rail transportation in the industrial heart of America. Its more than 10,000 miles of line carrying more than 4,500 trains a day are a national pulse.

One does not congratulate railroads on their anniversaries for the simple reason that a railroad is too vast and complex to bear personification. It would be too much like congratulating the Mississippi Valley or the Atlantic sea coast. But one may feel congratulatory nevertheless, in behalf of the service performed, the nation built, the organization created and maintained and the prospect that these things are the guarantee of continued usefulness. There were times not long ago when some persons said and may have believed that railroads weren't going to be needed much longer. But something happened to that notion during the war, something fatal. As the Pennsylvania ends its first century, its second century is assured.

Who's a Dirty Name?

TWO THINGS now are apparent in a casual view of international relations.

One is that the attempt of the United States to prove it could be firm with Russia has not come off as well as it might have.

The other is that the United Nations can be ruined if it is used as a diplomatic cockpit.

Our widely-praised and eagerly-awaited demonstration of toughness in relations with the Soviet Union failed to be as convincing because Iran turned out to be a weak case. In the showdown, the United States was left holding the bag. What was supposed to be a diplomatic triumph for Washington became a diplomatic triumph for Moscow instead. As Pravda, the Soviet Union's loudspeaker, saw the situation, the Iranian question was inflated artificially, then blew up in the faces of those matching wits and grips with Russian diplomacy. In short, while it was good politics for Washington to prove it could be firm with Russia, the means chosen were bad diplomacy. Russia was not impressed.

The incident confirmed misgivings about the fate of the United Nations if diplomats use it, as they used it in this case, to continue their traditional sparring, niggling and heckling. Russia, embarrassed by the security council's consideration of its position in Iran, now watches Poland embarrass the United States and Britain by chiding them for not throwing out Franco in Spain. There are dozens of things like this that can be brought up to distract the United Nations from its purposes. They are: to maintain peace, develop friendly relations, achieve international cooperation and be a center for harmonizing the actions of nations.

Calling other nations dirty names in diplomatic language is not included. To include it is to betray the hopes of all the people who are ready to renounce war and have put their faith in a handful of men conferring in the gymnasium of Hunter College, the Bronx, New York City.

A Small Down Payment

THE SENATE banking committee's 14-5 vote approving the British loan proposal brings this costly and important proposition to the point of congressional debate. It will be pointed out with deep conviction that the United States cannot afford not to make the $3,750,000,000 loan, as drawn up by international banking experts. In all probability, the proposal will carry and the loan will be made.

But there should be in every taxpayer's mind one reservation. Great Britain cannot be put on its feet and kept there as the English-speaking ally of the United States for $3,750,000,000. That amount, equivalent to the cost to this country of fighting World War II for a little more than a fortnight, is only a small down payment.

Once this government becomes committed to a peacetime version of its wartime lend-lease policy, there will be no limit to the billions that will follow one another into the yawning maw of international subsidy. Britain is starting with $3,750,000,000. France, according to Leon Blum, needs at least $4,000,000,000.

Lend-lease had reached more than $42,000,000,000 by last July. When it was started it was to be a garden hose we would "lend" to our neighbors to put out a fire. The British loan would be easier to think about if its backers were more candid in admitting that Britain couldn't be saved by a paltry $3,750,000,000. It's a lot of money to American taxpayers, but small change in the international subsidy business.

Diogenes from Dallas

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Hatton Sumners Believes in Personal Responsibility.

CHAIRMAN HATTON W. SUMNERS of the house judiciary committee, has announced that his retirement will take place at the end of this term, after 34 years' service. The loss to the house will be amply compensated, however, by the service which this philosopher will, unfettered by routine after his retirement, give to the country. For he is our foremost advocate of local and personal responsibility in government.

Some years ago, at the request of the president, it was my duty to consult Hatton Sumners about some administration bills concerning federal crimes, including racketeering. The bills were hastily drawn and, in effect, proposed dangerous extensions of Federal power. The president, who was then running congress over the White House telephone, had told Mr. Sumners that he wanted them passed. The sturdy congressman from Dallas was no man to follow everyone's direction. He told the President in his quiet way that the judiciary committee and the House would use their own judgment about the bills. He was clearly angry about it. The bills were examined, sorted over, and the less harmful ones passed. The rest were killed, president or no president.

Delivers His Opinion

On that occasion, as in many instances since, Mr. Sumners delivered himself of his views on government power, local self-government and individual responsibility.

Mr. Sumners, who has prudently laid aside a property basis for independence in years ahead, will give his efforts to hammering home to his fellow-countrymen a number of salty and sound truths. He has deeply deplored the trend toward federal help for this or that, over the past 12 years. It has, he says, encouraged people to believe that Washington can do everything, provide everything and never reckon the cost.

But it isn't the cost alone which disturbs the Dallas Diogenes, as he was once called. It is the bitter drug which is thus administered to local communities and states and persons. When the pride and self-reliance of local communities are weakened, Mr. Sumners says, the nation's strength is gone. When Washington cares for the poor and unfortunate, the community grows callous and cold. When federal law pursues criminals everywhere local law enforcement becomes a lazy onlooker.

Keeps Diety In Mind

This passionate belief of Mr. Sumner's is in his speeches, linked with a reverential bow to the Deity. His close association with the Lord is always clear, and the Lord is a Jeffersonian.

"In God's economy," he once said, "there is no attempt to protect people against difficulties. In fact, He creates difficulties. The difficulties which we observe in operating a free system of government constitute the gymnastic paraphernalia provided by God Almighty."

And in Mr. Sumner's interpretation of American history, the founding fathers were finding fathers. Those who made the Constitution were successful because their guide was Nature and experience. They merely looked to eternal laws and then gave those laws a local habitation and a name.

Hatton Sumners, the crusader for eternal verities, will have a wider audience than the house of representatives he is leaving. For he tells a story that people are waiting to hear.

Off They Go—Into The Pantry Yonder

The Air Force has announced a new program whereunder enlistees will be afforded an opportunity to make an Army career of food service.

To which the GI reaction will probably be "Permanent KP? [illegible]"

And in truth, since the earliest days of warfare many a soldier has carved himself an Army career with a paring knife.

There is, to be sure, a faith which moves mountains—but it does not apply to mountains of spuds.

Radar, V-weapons and atomic bombs notwithstanding, the average private's idea of the ultimate in mechanized warfare is still an electric potato peeler.

Or, better still, an automatic dishwasher, one of the more prevalent of military casualties being the soap salesman's standby, dishpan hands.

The Air Force's effort to glamorize KP is noteworthy. But I doubt it'll prove successful not even if they give double pay for frying time and the purple heart for greaseburns.

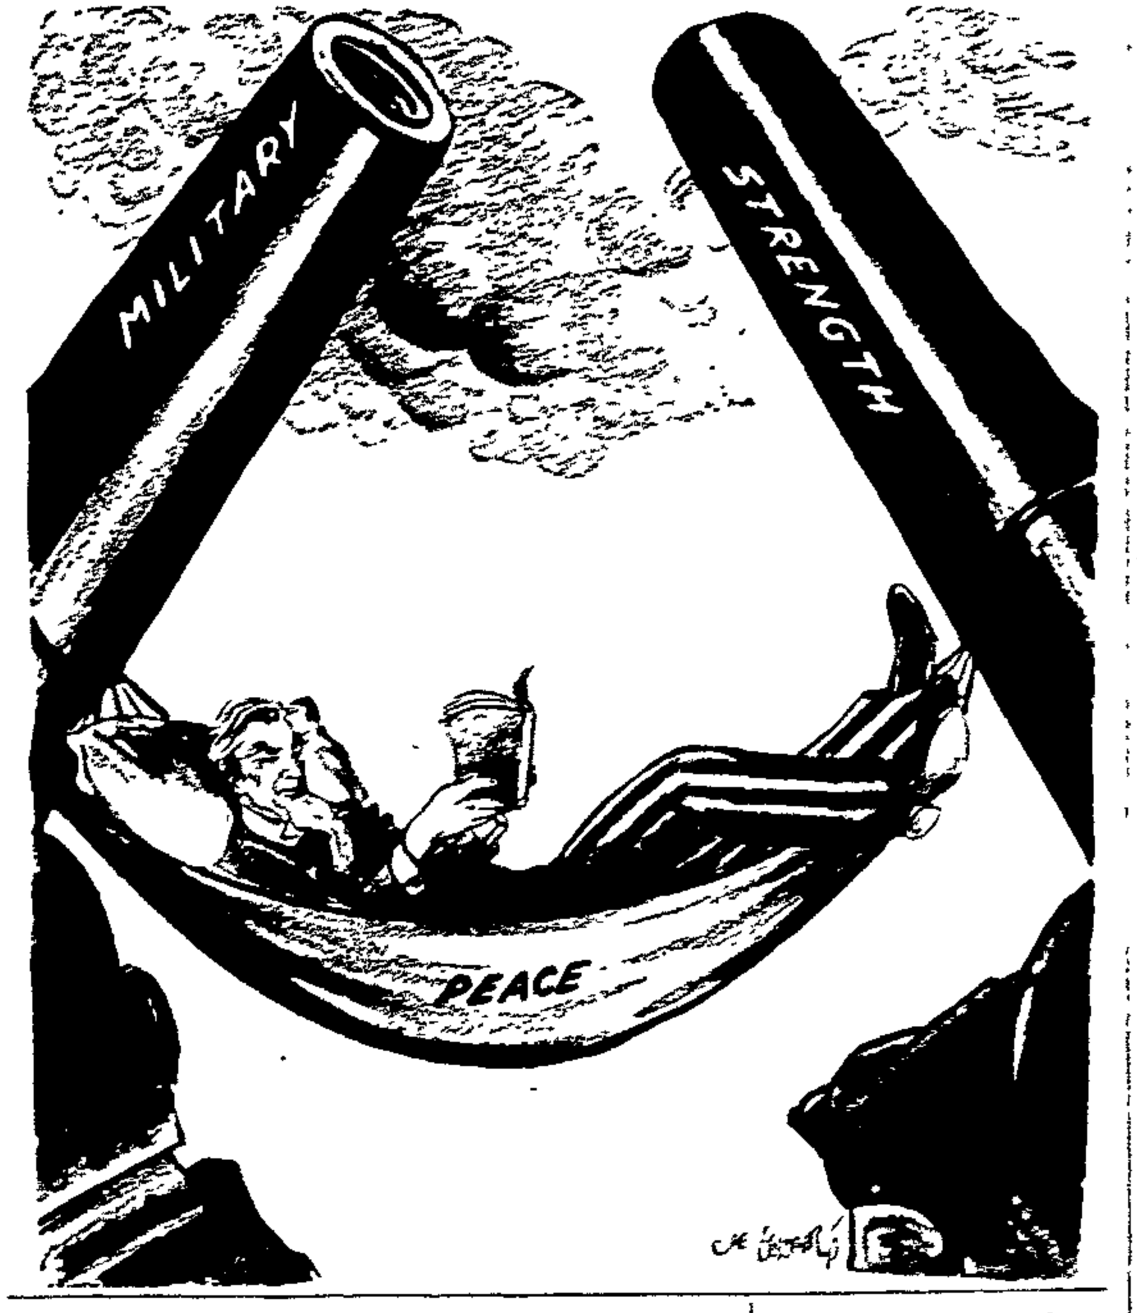
SOLID COMFORT



Mr. Smith Goes To Moscow

By JACK STINNETT

LT. GEN. WALTER BEDELL SMITH, our new ambassador to Russia, was just settling down in Moscow when Russian Ambassador Andrei Gromyko was walking out on the United Nations security council.

It's a good guess our new waspish-tongued military-diplomat told Premier Stalin in the Kremlin just what the American people thought about it too. He told newsmen on his way to his new assignment that his only "mission to Moscow" was to make it clear to Russia that there is a "great feeling of doubt" in America about what Russia wants and what its motives are.

"Beetle" Smith, still relatively unknown, was Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff from North Africa to Germany's surrender, a man with an earned reputation for straight talking and tactful talking mixed in the right proportions.

Gen. Eisenhower designated him to negotiate the surrender terms in Italy and again in Germany. The complexion of the first are well known, but in the end Gen. Smith tied them up in a package that left only a few irreconcilable Fascists fighting with the Nazis.

In the second instance, he whipped out with his sharp tongue and cut through German efforts to delay the surrender.

According to Wes Gallagher, former Associated Press war correspondent and now chief of the AP bureau in Berlin, the Nazi representative, Gen. Jodl, sought to stall the surrender, saying that he wished to consult Admiral Doenitz by telephone about some of the terms.

Caustic Chief of Staff Smith reportedly tapped the surrender documents and snapped:

"It doesn't make a damned bit of difference who you call or what you talk about. This is the document you are going to sign, just like it is."

Jodl signed.

Gallagher tells another story illustrating that "being aide to Gen. Smith—a human dynamo with a low fusing point—was a hazardous occupation with high casualties in wounded feelings."

On one trip along a portion of the Rhine front which was interlaced with a confusion of roads, Smith's aide became lost and sent the car down one road after another while his silent chief simmered. Finally snatching the map from his aide's trembling fingers, Gen. Smith said acidly: "You be chief of staff and I'll be your aide."

Before the aide had time to recover from those wilting words, Smith had the car on the right road.

Gallagher recalls one sentence Smith uttered to more than 100 Allied correspondents in a secret press conference in England, shortly before D-day in 1944.

"I have found we cannot beat you," said Smith. "We must get you on our side."

Gallagher says that is typical of the caustic, dogmatic, brilliant Eisenhower disciple.

After that, he gave one of his frank press conferences, telling all and dodging no questions.

After four days without sleep, flying all over the Mediterranean, as far as Lisbon, to negotiate the Italian surrender just before the Salerno landings, Smith dropped down in his chair and gave correspondents every detail of the surrender and invasion plans.

That's our new ambassador to the Kremlin. A little of that frankness might go a long way in Moscow.

Pennsylvania Railroad 100 Years Old Today

WHEN LINCOLN DIED in 1865, the Pennsylvania railroad furnished this special train to carry the body of the martyred president to its resting place in Springfield, Ill. This historic photograph was taken as the train stopped at Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania, now observing its Centennial, was less than 20 years old when it performed this sorrowful mission. Crestline, O., was one of the early important points on the original Pennsylvania main line and is named in the article below.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13—The centennial anniversary of the incorporation of the Pennsylvania railroad in 1846 is being observed today.

Although the rails of the Pennsylvania system may be far removed from many corners of the nation, there is scarcely an individual in America who is not somehow, directly or indirectly, served by this railroad which was founded one hundred years ago today.

Operating in 13 busy, industrial states and the District of Columbia, the Pennsylvania system serves the industrial East, its manufacturing centers, its markets. It brings out raw materials from their source to the mills. It connects the Atlantic Seaboard through its terminals in Chicago and St. Louis with the vast western regions of the country. It gives New England a connecting rail link to the South and West.

A hundred years ago today Governor Francis Rawn Shunk of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania signed the legislative act which incorporated the Pennsylvania railroad, giving it authority to construct a railroad 249 miles long from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, Pa.

In those one hundred years, the Pennsylvania has become a system embracing 10,689 miles of line comprising 26,000 miles of track. Its operation has expanded from two trains a day in 1849 to more than 1,340 passenger trains and 3,170 freight trains every 24 hours.

Purpose Fulfilled

In that service, the Pennsylvania railroad fulfills the purpose of its pioneers. It was their plan a hundred years ago to build the shortest rail transportation line linking the areas east of the Allegheny mountains with that part of the country beyond the mountains, thereby serving the best interests of the American people.

It was John Edgar Thomson, first chief engineer and third president, who laid the solid groundwork for the creation of a great transportation system by recognizing the importance of extending financial assistance to hasten the completion of railroads being built by others in Ohio and Indiana.

By extending that aid, it was possible for the Pennsylvania to link up those lines with its own fast expanding system to serve areas that were eager for development and eager for the benefits and advantages of rail service to and from the Atlantic Seaboard.

The first section of the Pennsylvania railroad to be completed and operated was the 61-mile stretch between Harrisburg and Lewistown, Pa. Its first train ran on Sept. 1, 1849. Soon thereafter, the line pushed on to Pittsburgh. An existing rail link between Harrisburg and Philadelphia became part of the system.

Extended To Crestline

Then, under the early formula of Mr. Thomson, extension of rail service from Pittsburgh to Crestline, O., thence to Ft. Wayne, Ind., and next to Chicago was hastened by substantial investments to help the Ohio and Pennsylvania, the Ohio and Indiana, and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroads complete their lines.

Thus, within 15 years after the founding of the Pennsylvania railroad, the mid-west was linked by rail to the Atlantic seaboard. Actual consolidation of the lines between Pittsburgh and Chicago with the Pennsylvania was effected in 1869.

Meanwhile construction of other important rail lines was under way, reaching for St. Louis and other mid-western cities.

In its extension westward to Chicago, cities which in quick succession came into the orbit of the Pennsylvania railroad's service before 1870 included Youngstown, Cleveland, Akron, Cincinnati and Dayton, O.; and Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, Ind.

From Indianapolis the service was extended by 1873 to Columbus and Louisville and to St. Louis, and from Ft. Wayne to Grand Rapids.

Under Single Management

By this time, the Pennsylvania system had been extended to Jersey City, its terminal there at first linked to New York by ferry. Thus, through a series of leases and consolidations, continuous rail service between New York and the West was achieved under one management.

Washington, meanwhile, had been linked into the system by a route from Harrisburg via Baltimore, and later, by the direct route from Philadelphia through Baltimore. As the system continued to grow, it was extended westward to Peoria in 1893. By 1900, it embraced Buffalo and by 1920, Detroit.

Among the most notable of its great engineering achievements was the completion of the Pennsylvania railroad's tunnels under the Hudson and East rivers and

Our Yacht Club Wants the Facts

DEAR SIR: Will you kindly fill out the enclosed blank and give us the name, length, beam and type of your yacht so that it may be properly entered on our fleet roster for the coming season?

Very truly yours,
THE MILFORD YACHT CLUB

Dear Y. C.

Your nice note inquiring about my yacht arrived today, and I can't tell you how happy it made me. I had begun to think you didn't care.

It is funny about a man and his yacht! Whenever any one asks for the name, length, type, etc., of his house, his automobile or his motorcar, it makes little difference, but any unconcern about his yacht can upset him no end. I had a friend once, a Mr. Artemus Quigley, who had to go two seasons without any inquiry as to the length of his yacht. (What hurt even more was that nobody seemed to care about its width!) The poor fellow went quite mad.

You began by asking for the name of my yacht. I like that. It shows the personal interest. But, and I hope you will forgive me, I have mislaid it. When I put the boat up last winter I made a note of the name and gave it to the wife to put some place where I would be sure to find it, but she forgot where she hid it. In a search of the house we ran across the names "Blue Plover," "Muggsy" and "Winnepusookalus," but we found that the first two were names of a sled and an airedale. We thought "Winnepusookalus" might be the name of our yacht, but it turned out to be a canoe.

I think the name you want began with a "Z" and my impression is that it had something to do with a tropical fish, a famous sea battle or the monsoon season. However, I am not positive. Suppose you just put it down as "John Doe" for now. If the real name turns up I will let you know.

* * *

Now as to the length, I was afraid you would bring that up. I thought we had that all settled last season. I distinctly remember telling the club the 1945 length and I do not look for any marked growth. I may have been off a couple feet, but why so fussy? Concerning the beam, all I know is I can lie across it and have room for a quart of gin and a can of worms quite comfortably. Is this okay?

You have me in the matter of the yacht's type. It is sort of semi-oval and has one sharp end. It is not a sailboat and it has no masts. And it is hardly a power boat. It has a motor, but you know that means very little these days. But, my dear Y. C., you will have no trouble identifying it as it generally has four or five seagulls roosting on the stern and I always keep it as close to the club-float as possible as I make a lot of trips to and from the building for [illegible] ice cubes and extra glasses.

Well, this will have to be all for now, but I may write you more later. Drop me a line whenever you feel like it. Remember me to the membership committee, the house committee, the [illegible] committee, the locker committee, the dance committee and the special committee in charge of the question whether or not to shorten the [illegible] on the bar glasses.

Your old yachting friend,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

P. S. We have just found the name of our yacht. It's "Mollie"! But now what do you suppose has happened? We can't remember where we put the yacht!

Soon we shall be hearing of the wolf who started life on a shoestring and ultimately acquired a furnished room.

Isn't it about time the book clubs began selecting the book clubs of the month?

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Had a talk today with Fred Summers. Fred was with the engineers and he [illegible] in a lot of rough spots, starting with Africa. He was a sergeant.

He used to help me here on Saturdays and Sundays before the war, wiping windshields, checking tires and making himself useful. Nice boy! He will do all right for himself.

But right now he's trying to lick something tough for a fellow 23 years old. While he was chewing over things with me he admitted he had lost his get-up-and-go. He said things looked sour and dismal.

Things back home aren't the way he pictured them when he was overseas. His imagination tricked him. Nothing is as swell as he thought it was going to be when he came back to it.

People are ornery and do dumb, mean things. There's too much jealousy and greed. Facts are warped. Fred Summers tells me the country is kaput, a word he borrowed from Germany.

This makes a tough proposition for an old Pollyanna like me to talk against, because I have to admit everything he says is true. Strikes, riots, hates, murders, robberies, lies and plots—things are a mess.

I admit everything is true and try to tell this war hero, this kid who looked down the [illegible] and told the Grim Reaper to go away and come back later, that in spite of all those things he still should feel frisky and full of beans.

I might as well be telling your Aunt Effie to come and scrub my back in the bathtub. Fred Summers at 23 has seen everything. I cannot tell him anything. He knows life is sour and dismal, or rather having just discovered it he can't think of anything else.

There is nothing I can do about it, except not be sour and dismal myself. I gave him two 15-cent cigars out of a box I cadged from the salesman yesterday and a stiff upper lip—no charge for the lip. Fred didn't' have any steady job before he went away and hasn't located one since he came back, and this may slow him up from discovering one of the bright sides of being alive. But spring probably will turn the trick. I almost never hear anybody talking about things being sour and dismal on fragrant days in May.

Still and all, I suppose it is serious about boys coming home and discovering their expectation had jazzed it up until everything seemed perfect. The truth of the matter is that Cotton Corners is nothing but a first-rate shanty town, that the state and the nation are in a terrible fix, that a lot of people are acting as if they had it in for somebody and intended to take out the [illegible] if it meant the ruination of all of us.

But the truth of the matter also is it wasn't ever any different. Fred Summers has found out things are bad but doesn't understand that they always have been bad, if you concentrate on that one angle. Remember how everybody used to want to run away to the South Sea and [illegible] Dorothy Lamour? A lot of boys had their chance but I haven't heard any raving about that paradise either. As far as that's concerned, a lot of Americans always dreamed of going to Europe but when they got there they mostly dreamed of coming home. It's a funny setup. Say hello to the family. Your aunt thinks she is getting the flu, so I probably will be in charge here for a week or more while she suffers.

Palm Sunday Services in Marion Churches To Mark Entry of Christ Into Jerusalem

Pastors Prepare Special Programs Including Communion, Baptism and Confirmation of Classes.

Palm Sunday, observed by churches of the Christian world as the day of Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem before the week of his suffering and death, will be marked tomorrow in Marion by various activities of the congregations. Pastors have prepared special sermons.

Baptism, confirmation and communion will figure in several worship services, an annual confirmation reunion and homecoming will be an afternoon event at one church, and one congregation will present an Easter pageant in the evening. A children's procession with palm branches at one service will be in reminiscence of the first Palm Sunday procession when crowds strewed branches of palm and garments in the path of Christ proclaiming him a king as he journeyed into the capital city of Judea.

Details of the Palm Sunday services follow:

EMANUEL LUTHERAN

At the Palm Sunday service at Emanuel Lutheran church, a class of 25 boys and girls will be received into fellowship with the church by the right of confirmation, the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen officiating. Anthems will be sung by both the Junior and Senior choirs. The service will be broadcast over WMRN from 10:45 o'clock until noon. The time of the service is 10:30 o'clock.

ST. PAUL LUTHERAN

Topic of Rev. Henry Schaeffer's Palm Sunday sermon will be "Who is This?" A Palm Sunday confirmation service will be held at 10:45 a. m. In the class are Rexford S. Bills, Charles E. Conners, Robert C. Ellwood Jr., Raymond E. Fout, Lois Patrick, Floretta Mae Rivers, John J. Sedelmaier and Kenneth C. Thompson.

FIRST EVANGELICAL REFORMED

"The Most Significant Event of Life," is Rev. E. H. Wierth's sermon topic for the Palm Sunday services at First Evangelical Reformed church at 10:45 p. m. Sunday. Rite of confirmation will be administered to Joan Bayles, Rozanna Baldauf, Robert Felchlin and Charles Fogle. Evening services will be conducted on the theme "Jesus On the Way to Jerusalem."

SALEM REFORMED

Salem Evangelical and Reformed church will hold its annual confirmation reunion and homecoming Sunday afternoon. McAdow, pastor, will be in charge.

Mr. Everly, instructor of organ in the school of music at Ohio State university, organist and director of music for First Baptist church, Columbus, and a member of the Central chapter of the American Guild of Organists, will present his program in four parts. His numbers will be, Part I, "Arioso," Pasquet; "When We Are in Deepest Need," Bach; "Blessed Jesu," Edmundson; and "Ave Maria," Schubert. Part II, "Meditation (Thais)" Massenet; "An Easter Spring Song," Edmundson; and "Priere," Borowski. Part III, "Fountain Reverie," Fletcher; "Berceuse," Launay; and "Romanza," Purvis. Part IV, "Suite Gothique," Boellman, including "Choral," "Priere a Notre Dame," and "Toccata."

The chimes, operated in the sanctuary from the tower, are manipulated from the console of the organ. They were installed Tuesday. Church organist is Mrs. Zenabelle Messenger.

The Triumphal Entry

A Sermonette

BY DR. S. M. INGMIRE

Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church

IN Mark 11:1-11 there is the story of the Triumphal entry of our Lord into Jerusalem. You will notice that the story starts with a commission to two disciples to bring a colt "on which no man had sat" which they would find tied in a nearby village.

They were told if anyone objected to the colt being taken, to tell them that "the Lord had need of it". This is still a challenge to every Christian today who wants to walk in the paths of Christian stewardship. All we have, and are, and hope to be, should be at the command of our Lord if he has need of it. One of the tests of any call to service, whether at home or abroad is whether there is a need. The need for a service is in itself a definite call to that service.

On the way to Jerusalem there were some that took their garments and spread them on the ground before Him, to show their respect and humility. You will notice that Jesus did not ride in military style, for the horse was the war animal in those days. Jesus picked a colt on which no man had sat. It was fitting that the Prince of Peace should ride humbly into the city.

There were others that cut branches and paved the way for the Master. They too had their part to play in this great event. There were few paved roads in that day, so perhaps the branches were a very practical help in aiding the procession. One can visualize the crowd that traveled that way. There were no doubt a preponderance of peasants in that crowd but there were also professional people and we are certain that there were many who could sing.

There were many who went ahead singing Hosannahs to their saviour. What a tragedy that there are so many gifted people who could make their gifts bless mankind, but do not catch the vision of service. There are people with fine singing voices who are seldom heard. They keep their light under a "bushel" as Jesus said. This Victory March certainly teaches that there is something for us all to do. We can, during this season of the year do, at least something, either work, sing or pray.

CHURCH NEWS TOLD IN BRIEF

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 14. It will have for the Golden Text: "Why art thou cast down, O my Soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God; for I shall yet raise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Psalms 43:5).

AWAITING TRIAL. Manacled and alone in a prison cell in Yugoslavia bearded Gen. Draja Mihailovich awaits his trial as a traitor. The famed guerrilla leader and former Yugoslav War Minister was captured about a month ago in a Bosnian mountain cave by Marshal Tito's forces. A request by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes that American servicemen, who were aided by Mihailovich during the war, be allowed to testify in his behalf, has been turned down by Marshal Tito.

instated as coach. At a special meeting March 28, Mr. Gay said that he requested that the charges be known, as there were no comments recorded in the minutes of March 7 meeting. The charges, he said, were verbal, and did not in his estimation show fairness and justification for dismissal. Mr. Gay further states in his letter that Mr. Sheffer was notified by letter, March 29, of his dismissal as coach, and also advising him of his teaching assignment for '46 and '47. Mr. Gay says that if the charges were of a nature justifying dismissal in one capacity, then why was he given a teaching assignment.

Publication of Mr. Gay's letter, brought a sharp reply today from Earl Logan, president of the board.

In brief, Mr. Logan's letter "To the editor" states that "the resignation of a member of the school board does not in my opinion warrant a public statement but since one has been made I feel that it is necessary to clarify the situation."

"It is first to be regretted that a duly elected board member would resort to the threat of resignation and the threat of a public statement in order to endeavor to reverse a four to one decision of the board."

Says None Received

"The board did not have a recommendation from the superintendent relative to the coaching duties of Mr. Sheffer."

Mr. Logan's letter stated further that Mr. Gay refused to make a motion or second one regarding Mr. Sheffer a year ago when he was considered at that time for re-appointment.

Mr. Logan's reply also states that Mr. Gay has attended just about 62 per cent of the meetings during his term of office, and that closer application to the business of the board is expected of an elected member. Mr. Gay has served a little more than two years of his four year term on the board.

Coach Sheffer stated he has nothing to say in the controversy, excepting that he is naturally disappointed at the board's action because he has felt he held the confidence of the boys in athletics, and that they have enjoyed a successful program this year.

Coach Sheffer has piled up one of the best athletic records for the Galion school in many years, the N.C.O. championship team in football in 1944, and the best basketball season here in 15 years. He has coached basketball for 13 years with 145 victories and 68 defeats. He has coached this sport in Galion for four years, and football since 1944.

The motion not to rehire Coach Sheffer at the March 7 meeting was made by Mrs. Anna D. Weber, newly elected board member. Paul E. Durtschi, appointed a year ago to fill the unexpired term of Herbert Edwards, seconded the motion. Mr. Logan and Mrs. Florence M. Shaw concurred.

Mr. Logan has stated that the board has no successor in mind. The coaching staff includes Ed Hixson, Robert Brown and Howard Deppen.

Glenwood Pupils In Annual Song Festival

An annual song fest was presented by pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Glenwood school Wednesday evening in the school auditorium. It was under the direction of Miss Marguerite Gehring, music supervisor at the school, with Miss Elizabeth Edgar, city grade school music supervisor, as accompanist.

The theme, "Songs of Other Continents," was presented against a background representing a spring garden. Faith Dall and Jane Keener, dressed in Dutch costumes, announced the songs given by the fourth grade chorus.

Chinese songs were given by the fifth grade and were introduced by Elaine Browning and Shirley Milten in original Chinese robes.

Jack Blinn in Mexican attire anonunced the Mexican songs for the sixth grade chorus. A group of selected voices from the fifth and sixth grades, closed the festival by singing a group of numbers introduced by Paul Smith.

Old Line Party Wins in Japan

Heavy Conservative Bloc To Dominate; Premier Faces Fight To Stay.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 13 — Virtually final unofficial returns from Japan's general election emphasized tonight that a heavy Conservative bloc would dominate the house of representatives which meets May 14 to consider a new constitution.

Japanese, meantime, were promised a lively fight between Premier Shidehara, who is determined to retain his cabinet until the constitution has been adopted, and Liberal Party Leader Ichiro Hatoyama, who wants to form a coalition government.

With only one seat of the 466-member house to be filled, newspaper figures gave the Liberals—who actually are conservative—141, a lead of 48 over their nearest rivals, the Progressives, who also are conservative. The Progressive membership was reduced by tonight's figures to 93.

May Get Support

With their total of 234 votes, the two parties hold a bare majority, but may get support from many of the 80 independents and some of the 92 Social Democrats elected. The latter has both right and left factions. Other seats went to: minor parties 33, Cooperatives 14 and Communists five.

The house will meet with 465 members.

Since the Japanese normally have been politically conservative, the results had been anticipated, although it was expected that the newly enfranchised women and young men would give some support to left-wing Socialists and Communists.

Hatoyama, who recently acknowledged he wrote a book praising Hitler and Mussolini but said he later disavowed it, called for a coalition to oust the aging Shidehara's cabinet.

Assessing the results of the election, in which women voted for the first time and chose at least 35 of their sex to the diet, the influential newspaper Asahi said,

"The fact many votes were cast for old influences such as the Progressive and Liberal parties demonstrates that realities do not change at a jump. We must remember that old spheres of influence still continue to be strong and that these feudalistic, conservative spheres constitute the greatest impediment to freedom or progress in the democratic revolution of Japan."

Applications for permits must be made in writing to the Marion County District board of health, courthouse, Marion. The resolution is signed by Dr. B. D. Osborn, president, and Dr. N. Sifritt, secretary of the health board.

City Regulations

The city with its own set of regulations maintains a rubbish dump on Fountain street and employs a man to look after it, and for a small fee any resident may haul his own rubbish to the dump, according to E. O. Uncapher, Marion safety-service director. License to haul rubbish for others costs $12 in the city, but hauling of garbage is restricted to the city garbage collection department.

AID TO PARALYTIC. Stricken with infantile paralysis in October, 1944, Mrs. Eleanor Hunt of Cleveland, former college athlete and mother of two children, is unable to walk alone. IBERIA VET

United States and discharged four months ago.

He's spent the past three months getting papers filled out for his return trip to England. There was a visa from England for his return to that country, his passport, and other details. Then followed a long time spent in trying to make reservations on some steamship line. All efforts to go back by boat failed. In desperation he came to Galion to seek information from Grace Thomas, secretary of the Galion Automobile club. She contacted the Cleveland Automobile club, direct agents for overseas airline service, and now Charles E. Thomas has a round trip ticket on the American Overseas Airline for his trip back to England.

In the meantime he has written Gwenda to have her ticket purchased for the same plane to come back with him to the United States.

When he leaves the New York airport at noon on April 23, it will take him exactly 24 hours to reach London, arriving there the next day at noon.

Cost Doesn't Matter

He plans to spend three months in England, including his honeymoon, before he flies back home with his bride.

The cost of his trip by plane is three times as much as it would have been by boat, but the sergeant isn't worried.

He will bring her back to Iberia to live with his parents until the housing shortage is relieved. He will go back to work at the Perfection Steel Body Co. in Galion, where he was employed before entering service, and has been working since his discharge.

In Wales, Miss Hopkins will leave her parents, two sisters and three brothers. Two of her brothers were in service, too, and one was wounded in action.

STRIKE HITS GOODRICH

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 13—A strike of 135 elevator operators slowed operations today at the B. F. Goodrich Co. A spokesman for the rubber company said a continuation of the dispute would halt all work departments dependent on elevator service for moving materials. The strikers are demanding higher pay.

SENATE SPLITS ON NEED FOR A-BOMB TESTS

Lucas Leads Fight To Drop Try-outs Despite Truman Plea To Go Ahead.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — The senate split wide open today over the question of holding—or canceling—the Bikini atom bomb tests despite President Truman's statement that the experiments are of vital importance to national defense.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), leading a fight for abandonment of the tests, told reporters he fears that if the bombs explode on schedule the world may obtain some valuable information it otherwise would not get on American military power.

Wants To Wait

The Illinois senator indicated he believed it would be better for all concerned if the extent of the damage that can be inflicted by A-bombs on naval vessels remains an unsettled question until the world gets farther along the road to peace.

The renewed discussion on the wisdom of the forthcoming mid-Pacific tests was touched off by Mr. Truman's announcement yesterday that the revised summer target dates for the experiment would be met. They were originally set for May 15, but postponed by the President so that more congressmen might attend.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia), a member of the McMahon atomic energy committee, told newsmen it was just as logical to suggest battleships be added to the fleet without shakedown cruises as to propose that the atomic bomb not be tested at sea.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) said he thinks the tests should go ahead as scheduled and Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee agreed. There were indications, however, that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), a member of both groups, is not convinced that this is the wisest course. The Michigan senator declined public comment.

That question will come before the senate naval committee next week.

Printers' Auxiliary Has Potluck Supper

Members of Woman's Auxiliary No. 179 to Marion Typographical Union No. 675 held a potluck supper and meeting Friday night in the recreation room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Metzger of 308 Homer street, with the husbands of the members as guests. The meeting was for the benefit of the promotion of the union label.

During the meeting, Mrs. Sylvia Haas was elected delegate, and Mrs. Florence Miller, alternate, to attend the Ohio Typographical conference to be held April 27-28 at Akron. Contest prizes were won by Robert Cocherl, Mrs. Maxine Cocherl and Thomas L. Scott. The mystery box award went to Mrs. Etheleen Scott.

Guests were Charles Streib, George Hawkins, Thomas L. Scott, David Metzger, Fred P. Haas, Harlie Irey, Robert Cocherl, Harry Miller and son, and Carolyn Cocherl. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be May 17 with Misses Sarah and Geneva Bell at 194 South State street.

UPPER RITES SET

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 13—Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine (Thomas) Kraus of Lakewood, formerly of this city, will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Peter's Catholic church in Upper Sandusky, in charge of Rev. William J. McKeown. Burial will be made in St. Peter's cemetery.

FARMING AT 110! Ten years ago Arpad Sabados, above, sold his farm and retired to Chicago—at the age of 100. Today, admitting it was a mistake, he is back on a newly purchased farm near Kenosha, Wis., spry and happy at 110. Sabados, looking much younger than he claims, was born in Hungary in 1836.

threatened closure' statewide. I would be reluctant to advocate such drastic measures, but how long I can stand up under the insistence of the dealers, I don't know."

Secretary August Meyer Jr. of the Cincinnati Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association, backed Nation's comments to the extent that "many dealers are willing to close" unless OPA relieved them of "restrictive regulations."

He said the complaints recently were directed to Price Administrator Paul Porter on behalf of association members "protesting harassing OPA restrictions."

At Cleveland, retailers declined comment on the possible closure predicted by Nation.

The retailers' secretary attributed the shortage to operations by black marketeers outbidding legal meat packers and blamed the new OPA slaughter control regulations which went into effect early this month.

Methodist Pastor Near Galion Dies

Special to The Star

GALION, April 13—Rev. B. P. Angle, pastor of Methodist churches of Nova and Ruggles, north of Ashland, and father of two Galion residents, died Friday afternoon of a heart attack. He had been suffering from pneumonia. He was a former pastor of the Kirkpatrick Methodist church in Marion county. Surviving are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Waldo Meeker of Portsmouth and Mrs. Walter Sindlinger and Mrs. Robert Brown, both of Galion, a son, Charles of Jacksonville, Fla., and five grandchildren. Funeral services will be Monday afternoon in the Methodist church in Nova. The body was taken to the Gilbert funeral home in Ashland.

Easter Theme Marks Devotions for Circle

Devotions in an Easter theme opened a meeting of the W.S.C.S. of Epworth Methodist church Thursday afternoon in the service chapel at the church. Mrs. Ralph Simpson presided and chose for her scripture passage the Easter story from the tenth chapter of Luke. To complete the service she gave a reading, "Martha," a poem in the form of a prayer, "Martha's Hands, But Mary's Mind," and a musical reading, "The Greatest Man Who Ever Lived." Mrs. J. D. Williamson gave a paper, "On Overcoming the World," Mrs. P. M. McMahon sang a solo, "In Joseph's Lonely Garden," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. N. Hale and the program closed with an Easter play, "The Long Night Ends," given by five members of the Lucy Webb Hayes circle. The meeting was preceded by a luncheon with Circle No. 4, of which Mrs. W. W. Jack is leader, as hostesses.

DEMOCRATS GUNNING FOR HIGH PARTY MEN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Angry house Democrats hit the warpath today for the scalps of officials at the party's national headquarters responsible for recent mistakes which have fired legislative tempers.

One lawmaker, Rep. Cox of Georgia, went so far as to say the expedition may culminate in an effort to oust National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

Most of the law-makers expressed doubt such drastic action would be taken. They predicted that Hannegan would merely be called on the carpet, although some of his aides would get the axe.

Cox told a reporter the whole matter probably would be discussed at an official caucus of house Democrats tentatively set for Monday. A caucus is a party meeting at which policies usually binding on members are decided.

The Georgian was one of more than 50 who signed a petition yesterday demanding the party meeting be held to discuss recent trouble, involving some national headquarters personnel.

Two recent events prompted the action by the aroused Democrats.

One, disclosed yesterday, was a letter sent by the national committee to the party's county chairmen throughout the nation. The letter called on the chairmen to act immediately to select "the proper candidate" for congress in the coming elections. National headquarters explained the message was intended for chairmen in districts where Republican legislators now serve, but it went to many others. Aroused Democratic incumbents branded this a reflection on them.

The other was publication in the Democratic Digest of an article concluding "and let your representative know that every vote for the Case (labor disputes) bill was a vote against the American people."

HYDE PARK OPENED AS NATIONAL SHRINE

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., April 13 —Franklin D. Roosevelt's Hudson river home was thrown open to the general public today—dedicated as a national shrine.

In dedication ceremonies yesterday on the first anniversary of the late President's death, President Truman promised to fight on for Mr. Roosevelt's ideas, asserting the "progressive and humane principles of the New Deal" would remain as the primary objectives of his administration.

Speaking from the same white-pillared front porch from which Mr. Roosevelt in the past greeted neighbors celebrating his election victories, the President named some of his own projects including full employment, health programs and housing, and declared:

"These and other progressive measures stem from the principles for which President Roosevelt fought, for which we who are carrying on after him now fight, and for which we shall continue to fight."

Mr. Truman also spoke of his predecessor's foreign policy, remarking that Mr. Roosevelt "saw clearly that we cannot continue to live isolated from other nations" and "recognized, above all, that our hope for the future of civilization, for the future of life itself, lay in the success of the United Nations."

Mrs. Roosevelt, dressed in black, formally presented the house, the rose garden in which her husband lies buried, and the 33-acre Dutchess county estate to the nation.

the Franco government was harboring German scientists, and reports from Paris said that a German scientist was operating an atomic research laboratory near Toledo.

The invitation for a committee to tour Spain was limited to "those nations represented in the United Nations with which Spain maintains friendly relations." Members of the security council which do not maintain diplomatic relations with the Franco government are Poland, Russia, Mexico, France and China.

An authoritative source said there were believed to be no porminent German scientists in Spain, although there were technicians who are working in plastics and communications equipment and with companies manufacturing Dornier and Messerschmitt planes, this source said.

CRESTLINE MAN DIVORCED

TIFFIN, O., April 13—George H. Beck, cashier of the First Natioial Bank of Crestline, was granted a divorce from his wife, Catherine, of Canton, O., by Judge Ralph Sugrue here Thursday in a case transferred from Crawford county. Six attorneys represented the parties in negotiating a property and alimony settlement.

OHIOAN CONVICTED

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., April 13—George Dean, 45, was convicted of first degree manslaughter on two counts last night for the slaying of two of his customers at his Cedarville tavern March 1, Mrs. Gladys Reynolds and Jack Thornton. Sentence of from one to 20 years was deferred pending a three day appeal period.

Man Patched With Inner Tube Outlives Dare-Devil Surgeon

By The Associated Press

MATHEWS, Va., April 13 — Eighteen years ago Captain J. White Miles, a Virginia oysterman, entered a Richmond hospital for a serious internal operation, complicated by abdominal gangrene.

The head nurse bet the chief surgeon five dollars he'd never send Miles out alive. The surgeon took the bet. In an operation that later was recorded in the archives of surgery, he patched the intestine, removed the gangrenous tissue and with a section of automobile inner tube and copper strips covered the gaping hole in the abdominal wall. Miles withstood the operation, slowly strengthened and was discharged from the hospital. The nurse paid the bet.

Still hale and hearty at 85, Miles chatted in his home here yesterday and reflected sadly upon the death earlier this week of the surgeon who pulled him through, Dr. J. Shelton Horsley of Richmond.

He recalled that while he was mending a little toddy was prescribed for him, but it was to be given by tube through the abdominal incision.

Taste being the test of such potions, Captain Miles declined.

RAILROADS, UNIONS TO SCAN WAGE HIKE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 13—Representatives of two railroad brotherhoods will meet with the carriers in Chicago April 22 to review findings of President Truman's emergency board which just concluded a 30-day hearing.

Alvanley Johnston head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said they would take their wage committees to Chicago for a conference with the carriers and to determine if a settlement of the dispute is possible.

The two unions are demanding a 25 per cent wage increase and adoption of a number of rules governing working conditions.

Both unions had postponed strikes pending outcome of the hearing in accordance with the Railway Labor Act. Under provision of the Railway Labor act the unions are supposed to wait 30 days after the board's report to the President before taking any strike action. The emergency board is scheduled to report to President Truman next Thursday. However, both Whitney and Johnston have emphasized that the boards findings are not binding and have warned that failure to adopt a program satisfactory to the unions would be the signal for a strike.

Following the Chicago conference, all general chairmen of the two unions will assemble in Cleveland April 24 to discuss the board's findings and outcome of the union-carrier conference.

LONG-SILENT BELL TO RING AGAIN TOMORROW

Installed at Second Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Ringing of an old church bell which has been silent for several years will mark with special significance worship service in Second Pilgrim Holiness church tomorrow morning. The bell, purchased recently by the Pilgrim church, had its home for years in the belfry of the old Zion Methodist church in Richland township, which was built in years shortly after the Civil war. This church was closed about three years ago and the congregation came to Marion churches to worship. A bell previously used in the Pilgrim church became cracked and was last used about eight years ago, Rev. Albert M. Hood, pastor, stated. The "new" bell, installed in the belfry of the Pilgrim church today, weighs about 800 pounds and was cast in Cincinnati in the latter 1800's.

SAYS JAPS STILL IN JAVA

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 13—Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general of the Dutch East Indies, said today 325,000 Japanese were still in Indonesia—290,000 under Allied control and the rest "somewhere in the interior of Java."

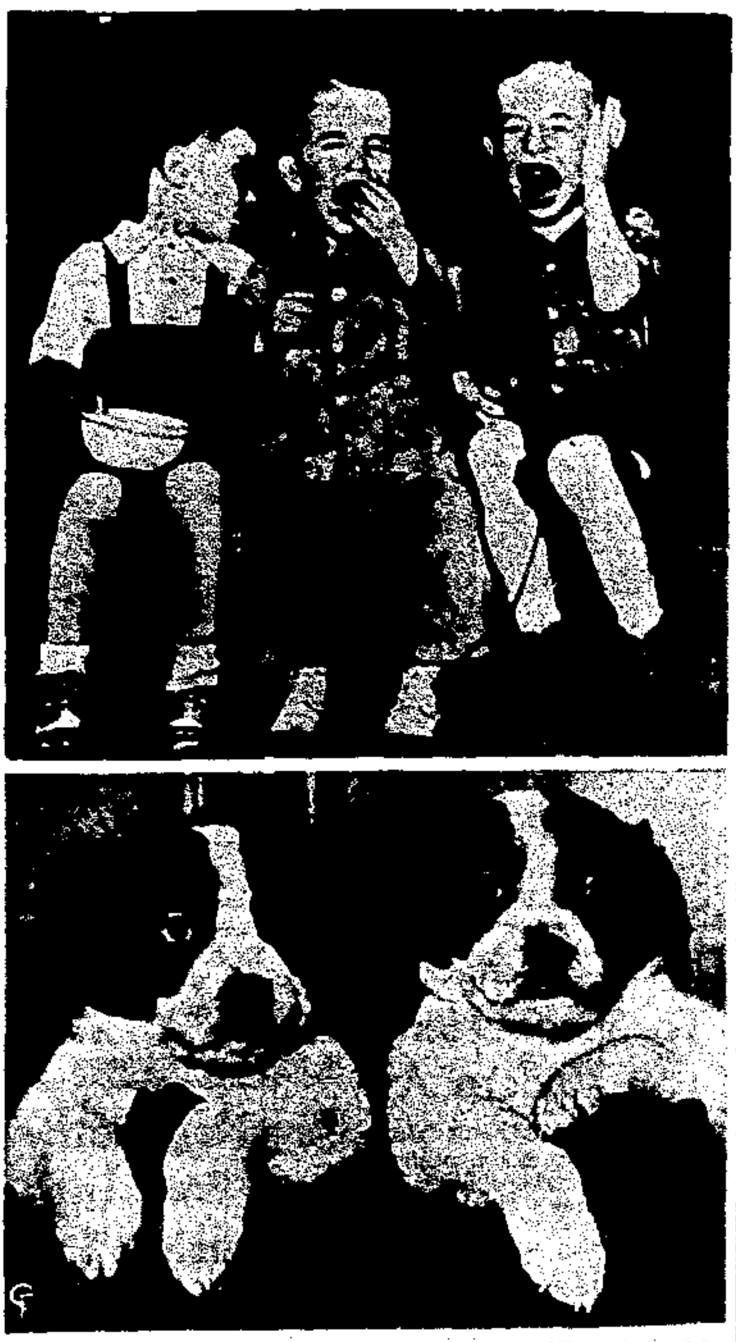
FRENCH NAME UN ENVOY

By The Associated Press

PARIS, April 13—The French government yesterday designated Alexandre Pardoi as its permanent delegate on the United Nations security council. Pardoi is ambassador to Italy. He is expected to take his UN seat on the council shortly, succeeding Henri Bonnett, who has been acting delegate at the council's current session. Bonnet is ambassador to the United States.



INTRODUCTIONS ARE IN ORDER. When a fellow loses his dog, life can become pretty black. But when three youngsters lose their canine pal—well—you can see heart-shattering result at top. As Elain Rogala holds the missing pooch's water bowl, her brothers, Dennis and Edward, howl their eyes out. Someone should straighten things out by telling them about the two appealing pups (bottom) at the Michigan Humane Society's home. They're looking about for a new place to live and a good deed for the day could begin with proper introductions among all concerned. (International).

RAILROAD

Through the tunnels, the system entered New York City and, via the Long Island railroad which it had acquired, extended 125 miles eastward to the tip of Long Island, giving the Island and its densely populated commuting areas direct access by rail to Manhattan.

Seven years after the opening of Pennsylvania station and tunnels, a final link providing a continuous rail line between New England, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and the South and West was created by completion of the Pennsylvania railroad's famous Hell Gate bridge over New York's East river, connecting the railroad's facilities via Long Island with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Busiest Station

Pennsylvania station has become the busiest railroad passenger terminal in the world. Its facilities cover 28 acres and embrace 16 miles of underground tracks. More than two billion passengers have passed through its train gates since its opening in 1910.

While plans were being made for driving its tubes under the Hudson and East rivers, the Pennsylvania railroad studied the possibilities of using electric power in its tunnel service. There was little experience to guide the venture, yet it was successful from the start.

Today, the Pennsylvania system is completely electrified for 194 miles between New York and Harrisburg by one route and 226 miles between New York and Washington by another route.

Much of the P. R. R. electrified lines traverse a four-track right of way constituting the business stretch of railroad in America. All told, more than 2,600 miles of Pennsylvania railroad trackage is embraced in its electrified zones. Numerous noteworthy "firsts" have been credited to the Pennsylvania Railroad. Included are steel rail, the airbrake, block signals, the application of the telephone to railroading, the train phone now in use on moving trains, steel cars, through freight trains operating on regular schedules, the coordination of truck and train service, and the latest of many wonders in the field of locomotive power, the direct-drive steam turbine engine.

The total revenue of The Pennsylvania Railroad company in its first 16 months of operation was only $339,000. Last year that gross income figure stood at $979,444,033;; and two of the previous busy war years exceeded that.

Two Billions In Assets

From its relatively small beginning assets have grown to exceed two billion dollars. But its entire ownership is vested in thousands of everyday Americans — 214,995 stockholders who live in every state in the Union, in every one of its possessions and in 41 foreign countries. The average holding is a fraction over 61 shares.

As the Pennsylvania moves into its second hundred years of transportation progress, it does so with extensive plans for even greater service. Lifting of war restrictions has permitted orders to be placed for hundreds of new cars.

The Pennsylvania Railroad entered 1946 with 4,848 locomotives, 7,299 units of steel passenger car equipment, 240,293 units of freight car equipment and 5,614 pieces of work equipment. In its "Navy," including boats and barges, are 378 units of equipment for marine operation.

Costa Rica's economy is primarily agricultural.
